BRITAIN-FRANCE READY FIGHT

PREMIER DALADIER SAYS FRANCE READY FOR EMERGENCIES

HAS PROMISED AID TO RUMANIA AND GREECE IN CASE OF NEED

PARIS, April 13.—(AP)—Premier Daladier announced today France was ready militarily for emergencies and, with Britain, had promised her aid in case of need to Greece and Rumania as well as Poland.

His declaration, made in a bluntly-worded statement, came only a few minutes after British Prime Minister Chamberlain announced similar commitments to Greece and Rumanio in London.

It was accepted here as designed to serve two major purposes:

1. Tell Germany and Italy any act of aggression would bring a serious risk of war.

2. Bolster determination of those countries which feel themselves menaced and are inclined to resist.

The statement read to the press on behalf of the premier declared that "without verbal manifestations "without verbal manifestations and without vain provocations" the nation has reinforced its defenses "to guarantee the frontiers of France and its empire against surprise."

The premier added that France would go to the aid of Rumania if that Balkan kingdom considered her vital interests in jeopardy.

It declared the French government attached "the greatest importance" to prevention of any modification by force or "the menace of force" of the status quo in the Mediterranean Sea or the Balkan peninsula.

He added that the French government was continuing the necessary diplomatic action for maintenance of peace and strengthening of the solidarity which "should unite all contries resolved to preserve their liberty" in the face of a common peril.

Daladier said protection of "all French interests direct or indirect and France's alliances" remained the government's "duty and desire."

Meanwhile France strengthened her land, sea and air forcces and co-ordinated them with Britain's to bolster their "halt Hitler and Mussolini" campaign.

Wealthy Texan Dies

Ira G. Yates, 79, who died at Austin Wednesday, owned the ranchland in Pecos county upon which the famous Yates oil pool was discovered on his 67th birthday, Oct. 29, 1926, and made him Texas' richest man. The Yates field now has 550 producing wells. Yates was a native of Hopkins county, and before enriched by petroleum was peanut digger, mule trader, butcher, storekeeper and ranchman.

TWO BIG EUROPEAN POWERS PLEDGE AID TO WEAKER NATIONS

FRANCE AND BRITAIN PROMISE SUPPORT FOR RUMANIA AND GREECE

By The Associated Press

Great Britain and France pledged "all the support in their power" today to Greece and Rumania if their independence were threatened.

The action, announced to the House of Commons in emergency session by Prime Minister Chamberlain, and in a statement by Premier Daladier of France, widened the anti-aggression front started by the two powers with a similar pledge to Poland after Germany absorbed Memel.

The prime minister made it plain Turkey was included indirectly in the new guarantees.

Chamberlain declared anti-aggression consultations with Soviet Russia were continuing.

The prime minister disclosed new Italian assurances that Italian troops, planes and pilots would leave Spain immediately after the Madrid victory parade, now set tentatively for May 2.

The prime minister refused to denounce the Anglo-Italian accord of 1938 because of Italy's conquest of Albania.

Premier Daladier in his statement in Paris announced his nation had reinforced its defenses "to guarantee the frontiers of France and its empire against any surprise."

Tense Climax Reached.

Efforts of Great Britain and France to raise new barriers against German-Italian expansion reached a tense climax in the dangerous game of diplomacy.

Mighty warships of the two allies, meanwhile, kept keen vigil in the Mediterranean which is the vital route to French and British colonial possessions.

Both nations feared that, Albania having been absorbed, Italy and Germany hoped to gain new conquests in the Great Sea—domination of Greece, perhaps, despite a note of assurance by Italy to the Grecian government.

France had under arms an army of 1,000,000 men or more, but so did Italy. German armed strength was at a high peak. London made new defense preparations. Poland linked with Britain in a provisional mutual defense alliance, called her reserves to bring her army, too, to 1,000,000.

Some Developments.

There were these developments in the picture:

Ban War Supplies Would Not Promote More World Peace

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 13.—(AP)—Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, said today an American embargo on war supplies would not promote world peace.

He expressed opposition to a mandatory neutrality policy in an address prepared for Founders Day ceremonies at the University of Virginia.

"The best interests of this nation, as well as the cause of world peace," Welles said, "are not advanced by our offering a premium to such nations as may desire to embark upon a policy of dominating those peace-loving countries who threaten neither our security nor our national interests, by withholding from the latter the opportunity of buying here the very essentials which might make it possible for them to prevent conquest."

Welles has been supporting the proposal of Senator Pittman (D-Nev) to extend the "cash and carry" provisions of the neutrality law to munitions, which at present are banned to warring nations.

WALLACE DECLARES DICTATOR NATIONS BLOCK TRADE PLANS

CONGRESS URGED TO BACK GOVERNMENT SUBSIDIES WHEAT-COTTON EXPORTS

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—Asserting taht "dictator nations" had blocked success of the administration's trade pact program, Secretary Wallace urged congress today to back government subsidies of wheat and cotton exports.

Wallace testified at a closed session of the senate appropriations sub-committee considering demands for a $400,000,000 increase in funds to bolster the administration farm program.

In a prepared statement, Wallace praised the administration's crop control and benefit payment program for farmers, and also the reciprocal trade progam—during normal times.

"But actions of the dictators have kept that policy from meeting full success," Wallace said. "The reciprocal trade program has not brought back to the farmers of the United States more than a small portion of their lost markets for wheat, and due to world conditions apparently can not do so in the near future."

The secretary said this government must subsidize wheat and cotton exports in order to retain its share of the world market until such time as international agreements can be worked out.

The present farm program, he added, is faced now with a surplus crisis in two fields: (1) exports crops such as wheat and cotton and (2) crops used in this country such as "dairy products, pork products, poultry and eggs, fruits and vegetables."

Increased Funds Needed.

Wallace said the export subsidy and more recent barter proposals would deal with the first phase while increased government expenditures probably would be needed for the second.

Wallace went over the situation with President Roosevelt yesterday.

The Chief Executive was described as having reached the conclusion the United States must

IMPORTANT CHANGES 1939 CONSERVATION PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

IMPORTANT RULING RECEIVED ANNOUNCE NEW COTTON PAYMENT PLANS

Important and drastic changes in rulings for the 1939 agricultural Conservation program has been received by the local cotton office, according to an announcement Thursday morning by Roy R. Keeling, county committee chairman.

Keeling said that a letter from the state office quoting a telegram from Washington, stated that: "The rule requiring 80 per cent of the allotted cotton acreage be planted on a farm before the maximum conservation payment could be earned, had been eliminated and that the 1939 cotton payment of 2c per pound on the average normal yield would be computed on the basis of the cotton allotment, irrespective of the acreage planted for harvest in 1939 if normal operations are carried out on the farm."

E. N. Holmgren, administrative officer of the AAA at the state office is quoted as saying that "judging from the wire they assumed that producers would be paid on their cotton acreage allotment regardless of whether any cotton is planted in 1939, providing farming operations were carried out on the farm."

"We consider this change of much importance to our farmers," Keeling continued, "Many of them do not care to plant 80 per cent, and in some cases any, of their alloted acres to cotton, and they can now plant this land to feed crops and will get full pay."

H. C. Robinson, county agent, also stressed the importance of the change as outlined above.

Sustained Boom In Autos, Trucks Reported Texas

AUSTIN, April 13.—(AP)—Sales of automobiles and trucks in Texas appear to be experiencing a sustained boom, the university of Texas bureau of business research reported today.

The bureau said registrations of new passenger cars during March leaped 45.8 per cent over February and 33.7 per cent above March last year, while truck sales were boosted 37.5 per cent over February and 29.7 per cent above March, 1938.

SENATOR CONNALLY INTRODUCES BILL TO STOP WAR PROFITS

WOULD IMPOSE TAXES UP TO 80 PER CENT WHEN STATE OF WAR EXISTS

WASHINGTON, April 13. (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex) introduced today a measure designed to eliminate war-time profiteering by imposing taxes ranging up to 80 per cent on incomes received when a state of war involving this nation exists.

Chairman of the senate finance subcommittee on war profits legislation, Connally declared primary aims of the measure were to take the profits out of war and at the same time provide means for paying for the struggle out of current taxes rather than through borrowings.

Under the measure, if the United States entered a war, increased tax rates and reduced exemptions for individuals would automatically become effective. Personal exemptions would be lowered to $800 and $1,600 for single and married persons, respectively, and the rate of tax would be 10 per cent, with a surtax beginning with 6 per cent on the first $1,000 in excess of the exemtpion and reaching a maximum of 80 per cent. Corporation taxes likewise would be raised.

"This measure, which drafts industry and wealth and effectively prevents war-time profiteering, is a tax measure which has been expertly drawn to fit in with the federal tax structure," the Texan commented.

"It represents months of work on the part of the senate sub-

PINK BOLL WORM BILL SIGNED BY O'DANIEL THURSDAY

SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATION OF $11,000 FOR ERADICATION WORK APPROVED

AUSTIN, April 13.—(AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today signed a bill making a supplemental appropriation of $11,000 to the department of agriculture for pink boll worm eradication work.

The funds will be used prior to Sept. 1 to enforce state quarantines in areas where infestation has occurred, specifically the Big Bend area, the El Paso, Pecos and South Plains districts, the lower Rio Grande Valley and the coastal bend area adjacent to Corpus Christi.

The appropriation supplementing $15,000 allocated for that purpose for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, was necessary, sponsors of the bill said, in the face of an emergency arising out of increased infestation which last year caused Governor James V. Allred to declare a quarantine.

J. M. Del Curto, entomologist for the agriculture department, said the quarantine would cause no embargo of cotton or cotton seed movement out of infested areas.

"It means," he said, "that all products shipped must be certified by the department and certi-

Snow, Freezing Weather In Large Part of Nation

CHICAGO, April 13.—(AP)—Snow and freezing weather gave a midwinter aspect to a large section of the nation today.

The U. S. weather bureau reported the worst of the cold snap was over but that no real balmy weather was in sight.

Extensive damage to budding fruit and some grain crops was reported in agricultural areas.

Smudge fires burned through the night in Vincennes, Ind., fruit belt.

Northwest Arkansas fruit growers feared apples, grapes and berries already in bloom had been injued by the unseasonably low temperatures. Big lettuce and onion crops on Long Island, New York, were similarly threatened.

More than a score of states shivered in freezing temperatures. Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas, with readings near zero, were the coldest spots. Snow fell in several states, notably Ohio, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Vermont and Upstate New York.

The cold weather caused some apprehension over coal supplies in view of the suspension of bituminous mining in the Appalachian field pending negotiations for a new labor contract.

Mayor LaGuardia of New York called attention to the "menacing shortage" threatening various city facilities.

FLIERS ESCAPE IN BOMBER CRASH

Three air corps officers escaped injury when the $500,000 experimental attack-bombing plane of the North American Aviation Corp., crashed and burned on a farm near Dayton, Ohio. The plane was one of three that had been submitted to the air corps in purchase competition.

HOUSE IN ANOTHER OLD AGE PENSION CHANGE THURSDAY

VOTE OF WEDNESDAY RECONSIDERED AND COMPLETE SUBSTITUTE ADOPTED

AUSTIN, April 13.—(AP)—The house today partly "deliberalized" the old age pension liberalization bill received from the senate and backed down from its earlier position of transferring local pension administration to county commissioners courts.

Reconsidering its vote of yesterday, the lower chamber adopted a complete substitute for the senate bill. An effort to kill the reconsideration motion failed, 74 to 81.

The substitute, by Rep. Lonnie Alsup of Carthage, would leave pension qualifications as at present except no one would be denied a pension on account of the ability of his children to support him or the rental value of his home.

Alsup and others contended that with no additional tax money in sight this was as far as the legislature should go in boosting pensions. He estimated it would add 35,000 to 40,000 persons to the rolls.

The bill approved by the senate proposed to pension everyone with an income of less than $30 a month, divided pensioners into

THOMPSON DECLARES TEXAS USERS OF GAS WON GREAT VICTORY

MEMBER RAILROAD COMMISSION EXPECTS SUPREME COURT AFFIRMANCE

AUSTIN, April 13.—(AP)—Ernest O. Thompson, member of the railroad commission, said today gas users of Texas won a great victory when the third court of civil appeals decided the commission order reducing the gate rate of the Lone Star Gas company from 40 to 32 cents per 1,000 cubic feet was reasonable and valid.

He admitted the company might appeal but said the supreme court doubtless would affirm the lower court judgment, made yesterday.

"Thus," he said, "the cities and towns of Texas served by the Lone Star Gas company now have the door open to them to proceed with their rate reductions to gas users on the assumption backed up by this court decision that 32 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas is a fair and reasonable rate at the city gates.

"This decision will save the gas users of Txaes millions of dollars a year."

He continued the court decided the commission had ample evidence

Would Abandon Hillsboro Line Of Cotton Belt

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—(AP)—Trustee Berryman Henwood of the Cotton Belt Railroad filed notice in Federal court today that he would petition for authority to abandon 40 miles of branch line in Texas between Corsicana and Hillsboro.

The line was built in 1888 and at one time produced substantial revenue, Henwood said, but new highways have diverted traffic and operations last year resulted in a deficit of $20,000.

Charges Filed Connection With Automobile Fire

Lester Walker, 709 West Eleventh avenue, was named in a formal complaint late Wednesday night for alleged burning of insured personal property.

The charge was accepted by Charles T. Banister, criminal district attorney, and was signed by M. S. Griffin, city detective, following a day's investigation by Bruce Nutt, police chief, and his department into the burning of a 1936 Ford V-8 coach shortly after midnight Wednesday morning on East Seventh avenue.

The complaint was filed before Judge A. E. Foster.

The case is expected to be presented before the Navarro county grand jury Thursday. Officers took statements from several witnesses Wednesday night.

Walker waived examining trial before Judge Foster Thursday morning and bond was set at $1,000 to await the action of the grand jury.

GERMANY DECLARES WAR GUILT TO LIE WITH DEMOCRACIES

SHOULD HAVE HEEDED HITLER'S PLEA OF PEACE AND HIS WARNINGS

BERLIN, April 13.—(AP)—Official Germany took the position today that if the world should be plunged into war the fault would lie with the democracies—for not heeding Reichsfuehrer Hitler's "plea" for peace and his warnings against "international war-mongers."

The United States was presented as an example of a nation which fosters to "war psychosis."

Commenting on the decision of American insurance companies to cancel war risk insurance for German and Italian ships, a government spokesman said:

"If a people is being urged into war the way the American people are nobody need be surprised if business gets jittery. This is a typical example of panic politics.

"Germany is doing nothing but pleading for peace. Our fuehrer himself has decided to call the September party rally at Nuernberg 'the party convention of peace'."

Meanwhile the Berlin newspaper Swoelf Uhrblatt capped morning newspapers in their denunciation of Britain. The upper half of its front page was taken up with the following streamers, some in black and some in red ink:

"Desperate cries for help by Arabs—last warning—morality or immorality in Europe, that now is the question—it stinks to heaven—Doers, Indians, Irish, Arabs: Always the same massacres—perfidious incitation by London."

GREAT BRITAIN IN PLEDGE OF SUPPORT GREECE, RUMANIA

CHAMBERLAIN ANNOUNCES FRANCE AND BRITAIN TO GIVE NATIONS SUPPORT

LONDON, April 13.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain announced a pledge of support against aggression to Greece and Rumania today in an emergency session of the House of Commons.

The prime minister announced France and Britain had joined in the decision to give both Southeastern European countries "all the support in their power" if their independence were threatened.

The prime minister, however, refused to denounce the Anglo-Italian accord of 1938 because of Italy's Good Friday invasion of Albania.

But he made it plain Britain felt Premier Mussolini had flouted that pact and disturbed the status quo in the Mediterranean.

The two nations in the 1938 pact agreed the status quo in the Mediterranean should be maintained.

The Anglo-French pledge of aid for Greece and Rumania following Italy's invasion of Albania widened the non-aggression front which Britain and France began building with a similar pledge to Poland after Germany took back Memel.

The prime minister said the Italian invasion had "profoundly shocked" the world.

Declaring France concurred in the pledge, Chamberlain announced:

"The British government will lend to Greece or Rumania if their independence is threatened all the support in their power."

Of the Anglo-Italian accord he said it had "been justified and should not at this moment be ended."

Pledge to Rumania.

The pledge to Rumania had not been expected today. But the prime minister declared in measured tones that the government attached the greatest importance to avoiding disturbance "by force or fears of force" of the status quo either in the Mediterranean or the Balkan peninsula.

It had been expected such a pledge would be made to Turkey but of that country Chamberlain said:

"We are communicating this declaration (the assurances to Greece and Rumania) to the governments concerned and to others, especially to Turkey, whose close relations with the Greek government are well known."

By his pledges the prime minister extended Britain's commitments of protection clear to the borders of the Soivet Union from the baltic to the Black Sea.

Chamberlain spoke of the Italian coup in the Adriatic as "this fresh exhibition of the use of force" and declared "we are con-

President Signs Bill For Taxing Exempt Employes

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has signed the bill wiping out immunity of federal and state employes from income taxation.

The measure, which a secretary said the President signed last night, permits the federal government to tax the salaries of state officials and employes, and state governments to tax the salaries of federal officials and employes.

POLAND IGNORING NAZI PRESSURE AS RELATIONS STRAINED

EMBASSY AND CONSULAR OFFICIALS IN GERMANY TOLD SEND FAMILIES HOME

WARSAW, April 13.—(AP)—The Polish foreign office was reported today to have instructed officials of the Polish embassy and consular offices in Germany to send their families home.

The report was heard as Poland apparently ignored German pressure to keep her out of the "anti-aggression" bloc of Britain and France, and the entire Warsaw press published editorials supporting Poland's recently announced defense alliance with England.

Officials took no public notice of a Nazi newspaper campaign which informed quarters here said said was intended to "intimidate" Poland and prevent her from signing the pact.

But, the pro-government newspaper, Kurjer Poranny, declared "regarding 'encirclement' Poland has much more to say than Germany, because German troops are concentrated all along the Polish frontier, from Slovania to Memel."

While declaring it was "Polish nature" always to meet attempts at conciliation in a friendly way, "threats will always be met here by increased resistance."

INQUEST VERDICT SAYS MAN KILLED FAMILY AND SELF

AMARILLO, April 13.—(AP)—Relatives came here today from Colorado to arrange for burial of the victims of what Coroner C. W. Carder ruled was triple murder and suicide.

Carder's inquest verdict last night said Harold C. Fowler fatally shot his wife, Ellen, and two sons, Marvin and Dickie, 4 and 7, before committing suicide.

Bodies of the four were found at their home here yesterday by police investigating after Fowler had failed to report to his bureau of agricultural economics office since last Friday and the children had not reported at school.

"Sorry to have to do this," read a note found by police.

JOB OF BARTERING AMERICAN COTTON MAY BE ASSIGNED TO AMBASSADOR GREAT BRITAIN

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—The job of bartering American cotton and wheat for rubber, tin and other strategic war materials may be assigned to Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain.

Senators backing the scheme said today Secretary Hull apparently had received favorably a suggestion that Kennedy be delegated to undertake preliminary negotiations.

One senator who asked anonymity said he believed the ambassador, because of his contacts with British officials, might be able to cut away much of the red tape that ordinarily would surround discussions.

As outlined by Senator Byrnes (D-SC) the barter plan would call for an exchange of surplus American products for essential materials not produced in this country. Contracting parties would agree to store these materials for five years, keeping them off the market during that time.

Congress gave its consideration, meanwhile, to other developments in the field of foreign relations.

Senator Connally (D-Tex) prepared a new war profits bill.

Connally is chairman of a finance subcommittee on war profits, and some senators thought his proposal might be an administration reply to the drastic measure introduced by Senator Bone (D-Wash) with 49 other senators as co-authors.

The Connally bill would impose taxes ranging up to 80 per cent on incomes received when this country is at war. Bone's measure has been criticized on ground it would take away nearly all profits.

Meanwhile, the state department disclosed Great Britain and France obtained licenses for export of about $25,000,000 worth of war supplies from the United States in the first three months this year.

FABULOUS WEALTH IS STARING OLD-TIME OIL DRILLER SQUARE IN FACE WITH OIL DISCOVERY

HOUSTON, April 13.—(AP)—Fabulous wealth was in the grasp today of H. M. Naylor, old-time oil driller whose big strike Sunday had the oil industry agog over a new sand and possibility Naylor may emerge with $20,000,000.

The quiet, unassuming Naylor, who has known the hardships and vagaries of the oil business, went about his business today as usual, hinting only that he might buy an airplane with some of his new found money.

His well blossomed into one of the biggest producers of its kind on the Texas gulf coast yesterday when its pressure increased and 45 barrels of 36.8 gravity crude oil emerged each hour from the 7,800 feet deep hole through a tiny one-fourth inch opening in the pipe.

Railroad Commission inspectors who represent the Texas Oil regulatory body, said if the well is thrown wide open it might produce 30,000 barrels of crude oil a day, worth $1 a barrel.

Naylor found his well at Thompsons, one-time ranching center in Fort Bend county, on land the major companies had overlooked. He holds 3,000 acres and his well is near the center of the acreage. If the 100 feet of sand recorded in the Naylor well exists over the entire 3,000 acres, experts said his holdings outright would bring around $20,000,000 on the present market.

The well, a cursory examination showed, may be producing oil with a parafin base, something new and different from most Gulf Coast napthalenic base oils.

STATE COURT CIVIL APPEALS HOLDS RATE OF 32 CENTS BE JUST

TRIAL COURT VERDICT REVERSED AND COMMISSION INJUNCTION DISSOLVED

AUSTIN, April 12.—(AP)—The Austin Court of Civil Appeals today again held for the State in the Railroad Commission's suit to reduce the gas rate of the Lone Star Gas Company.

The court held a rate of 32 cents per 1,000 cubic feet set by the commission was "just, reasonable, non-confiscatory and valid in every respect."

It reversed a judgment of the trial court and dissolved an injunction against the commission.

The case has been in litigation for years. Approximately 270 cities and towns are affected.

Last year the court of civil appeals took the same action and was reversed by the United States supreme court.

"We conclude the validity of the 32-cent city gate rate prescribed by the commission is one conclusively established as a matter of law," the appellate court said, "and (2) factually from so overwhelming a weight and preponderance of the evidence as to require a reversal in the interest of justice."

The opinion was written by Associate Justice M. B. Blair.

October 14, 1932, the railroad commission launched an eight-months investigation to determine whether the 40-cent gate rate of the Lone Star Company was reasonable. The reduction to 32 cents was ordered in September, 1933, and litigation started shortly thereafter.

Decides Rate Unjust.

A jury in district court here decided the 32-cent rate was unjust and unreasonable, and the state appealed to the Austin civil appeals tribunal. The appelate court held for the state and the state supreme court refused to set the opinion aside.

The Lone Star sells to distributing companies in Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, Sherman, Denicon, Denton, Wichita Falls, Abilene, Sweetwater, Temple, Bryan, Georgetown and many other widely scattered Texas cities. Railroad commission officials estimated reduction of the gate rate would mean a saving of around $1,400,000 per year to 200,000 gas consuming families in those cities. The higher rate has been in effect pending termination of the litigation.

The chief point at issue in the controversy has been the value of the Lone Star's properties. The commission decided it was $46,246,616 whereas the company had contended it exceeded $70,000,000.

The opinion said evidence showed the company had earned an average rate of return of 6.98 to 8.48 per cent on its investment over a seven-year period and that the commission had found an annual return of 6 per cent to be fair and reasonable.

Based on Substantial Evidence.

"We are clear in the view," it said, "that the rate order is based upon substantial evidence, and that the gas company did not show by clear and satisfactory evidence that it was not based on substantial evidence, or that it would not afford a reasonable rate of return on the fair value of the properties used or useful in the public service."

The civil appeals court interpreted the United States supreme court judgment as requiring that any holding of the former in the case be based on consideration of all the evidence.

It said the supreme court had reversed the case on grounds the appellate court had held the company had not sustained its burden intrastate properties.

The new judgment of the court of civil apepals was made, therefore, after considering the "overall evidence."

The court of civil appeals said further the supreme court had stated a state could determine procedure of its courts and modify or abolish trial by jury.

Could Not Follow Contention.

It then asserted it could not follow contention of the company the supreme court intended the appellate court should affirm the district court judgment on the jury's general finding the rate was unreasonable and unjust.

The opinion of the supreme court was construed as holding that "in this statutory action to review and enforce the order of the commission - - - which order was made upon consideration by the commission of the gas company's properties in Texas and Oklahoma as an integrated system, the company was entitled to have the sufficiency of its evidence judged by the criterion used by the commission - - - and that the trial court's judgment based upon the jury's finding upon the same criterion that the rate was confiscatory could not be set aside by this court upon the 'untenable' and 'alternative' ground and ruling as to the necessity of the company's making a proper segregation of its interstate and intrastate properties and operations."

The court said it again had reached the conclusion, after viewing the over-all evidence on an unsegrated basis, that the rate order was valid.

Record Excluded.

It said the trial court erroneously excluded the record of proceedings before the commission upon which the rate order was based, a record consisting of 11,282 pages and containing all evidence relating to the overall or unsegregated basis of operations in both Texas and Oklahoma.

The company was allowed by the trial court, the appellate court said, to attempt to tear down findings of the commission, and the commission was denied right to refute the attack by its best evidence, the record of commission hearings.

"If any jury question were presented," the opinion said, "then the jury was deprived of this complete transsipt of the evidence adduced before the commission bearing upon the only issue submitted to them."

Improper Evidence.

The trial court also permitted improper evidence to be presented the jury, it said, citing specifically certain company claims as to book costs of gas properties in the Petrolia field and undeveloped gas leaseholders.

The court of civil appeals was making the point that although the jury held the commission rate unreasonable the jury had been allowed to consider evidence which sould have been excluded.

It also said certain argument to the jury by company counsel was improper and prejudicial.

Discussing the principles of rate determination and judicial review in Texas, the court of civil appeals pointed out the railroad commission position of trial court or jury, and the courts merely have the duty to determine whether the rate order is based on substantial evidence.

If the trial court had followed this rule, it said, amount of testimony would have been reduced and much time and expense saved because testimony before the commission and trial court was in the main the same.

No Time Study Decision Yet.

DALLAS, April 12.—(AP)—Roy C. Coffee, general attorney for the Lone Star Gas company, said today the firm had not had an opportunity to analyze the decision of the court of civil appeals in the gas rate case, and was unable to state "what our course of action will be."

Mrs. Sallie Clark of Ben Wheeler, Texas, celebrated her 84th birthday Sunday April 9, with 56 of the 90 of her children, grandchildren and and great-grandchildren present. Mrs. Clark is the mother of 14 children of which only six are living.

The birthday dinner was a big surprise but a most enjoyable one. A long table was placed across the front yard and filled with good things to eat. The beautiful birthday cake with its 84 candles was placed in the center of the table.

Mrs. Clark said "I have had my picture made more times today than I have ever had in my life." Many lovely gifts were given her on this occasion.

Mrs. Clark is the grandmother of Mrs. Wm. Bivin of this city.

WIFE OF SUPREME COURT JUDGE MUST SERVE JAIL TERM

MRS. EDGAR J. LAUER DENOUNCED AS WOMAN 'INSANE VANITY' BY JUDGE

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Edgar J. Lauer, 58-year old wife of a state supreme court justice, was denounced today by Federal Judg Vincent Leibell as a woman of "insane vanity," and sentenced to three months in jail on her lea of guilty of smuggling and conspiracy.

She was fined $2,500 as well.

Some two hours later, Albert N. Chaperau, the go-between in a series of smuggling adventures which had involved not only Mrs. Lauer but George Burns and Jack Benny, the comedians, was sentenced by another federal judge. Murray Hulbert, to five years in prison and fined $5,000.

Thus the government cleaned its docket of the Chaperau affair, Benny and Burns having previously pleaded guilty and paid fines of $10,000 and $8,000, respectively.

Chaperau was the actual carrier of the smuggled goods in each case.

Mrs. Lauer was directed to begin senring her sentence immediately, despite her lawyer's appeal that she first be permitted to speend a fw days at home.

Mrs. Lauer was accompanied by a physician and a nurse when she appeared before Federal Judge Vincent Leibell.

The government asked a jail term for Mrs. Lauer because she was termed a second offender. In the fall of 1937, Justice Lauer settled for $10,400 claims against his wife for undeclared jewelry she brought into the United States.

Mrs. Lauer's appearance today followed charges she had smuggled clothing into this country from Paris last year.

Judge Leibell indicated the sentence would have been more severe were it not for Mrs. Laur's condition and her age. She is 58.

Mrs. Lauer was indicted on four counts, but only on the first count, that of conspiracy, did she receive a penalty. The court imposed a suspended sentence on the three other counts and placed her on a year's probation.

The indictment also named Albert N. Chaperau, a shadowy international figure, who likewise has pleaded guilty. Chaperau was involved in the smuggling indictments returned against radio and movie comedians Jack Benny and George Burns, who recently were fined and given suspended sentences.

U. S. Attorney John T. Cahill accused Mrs. Lauer of having smuggled more than $30,000 worth of goods since 1933 and of having exhibited the same symptoms of physical collapse in 1937 when she evaded duties of $5,200.

The prosecutor asserted Mrs. Lauer had a speedy recovery after a $10,000 civil fine was imposed.

Mrs. Lauer heard her own chief counsel, John W. Davis, call her a "vain and foolish woman," and heard the court charge her with an "insane vanity" and liken her repeated violations of the customs laws to kleptomania.

OVER HUNDRED GET WORK THROUGH LOCAL EMPLOYMENT OFFICE

During the month of March operations of the local office of the Texas State Employment Service were focussed upon serving retail employers with salespeople for the spring and pre-Easter trade in Corsicana stores, B. T. O'Connell, manager, reported yesterday. A total of 114 unemployed people found work through the employment office and other qualified salespeople and clerical workers might have been placed in jobs if they had had their applications on file in this office. O'Connell further states that with the new registration procedure now used by the employment service, each applicant can be waited upon immediately upon his arrival in the office.

There was marked activity in the building trades last month and 61 domestic workers were furnished the housewives of Corsicana.

In addition to the 163 new applications taken for work through the employment service within the last 30 days, 92 individuals filed initial claims for unemployment compensation and 1068 filed continued claims. At the time a claimant presents himself at the employment office and announces his intentions to file a claim, his application for work is taken. He is then eligible for job referrals according to his qualifications, along with other applicants whose registrations are current.

CORSICANANS WILL HAVE PART ON EAST TEXAS CC PROGRAM

MRS. TRIMBLE AND MISS SIMMS TO APPEAR; IZA BAUM IS PRINCESS

Mrs. Joel Trimble, popular soprano, and Miss Linda Sims, talented accordionist, will be Corsicana's contributions to the splendid program planned by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, when the organization meets in thirteenth annual convention in Beaumont April 23rd, 24th and 25th.

Miss Iza Baum, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Baum will represent Corsicana as princess.

Musical Features of Convention

"Private Enterprise Built This Country," will be the convention theme. In recognition of the part timber resources have played in building East Texas, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, will proclam Sunday, April 23, as Forestry Day, and it will be observed in the sacred concert at the First Methodist church on Sunday night.

The Gladewater high school band has been chosen as the official band of the convention, and will open the meeting with a concert on Monday morning, April 24th, at 9 o'clock. At 10 o'clock, a solo by Miss Margaret Finney, Temple will be given. At 11:30 o'clock, special music will be given by the East Texas State Teachers College trio of Commerre.

At 12:15 o'clock the President's luncheon will be held in the Rose Room of Hotel Beaumont with President Pat M. Neff of Baylor University as speaker, his subject being, "Man and His Possessions." Music for the luncheon will be furnished by the Marshall and Corsicana chambers of commerce; the latter organization being represented by Mrs. Trimble and Miss Sims.

At 3 o'clock a reception will be held for the visiting ladies. At 5 o'clock a tea and style show will be given at the Beaumont Country Club, and a tour of gardens and homes will be sponsored by the Beaumont Garden Club.

At 9:30 o'clock, the President's Ball will conclude the day's activities.

Tuesday Session

Musical features of Tuesday's session will be given by the Hillbilly band of Sam Houston State Teachers' College of Huntsville and Stephen F. Austin State Teachers' College of Nacogdoches.

Immediately following the Parade of Progress, featuring decorated floats representing East Texas cities and industries, the official band wil be selected from the bands that take part in the parade.

Numerous Pre-Nuptial Courtesies Extended Miss Liza Halbert

The past week end was filled with lovely pre-nuptial courtesies for Miss Liza Halbert and members of her bridal party, and those who have entertained for Miss Halbert, which began Saturday noon with a luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Jester, given by Miss Arabella Jester.

Covers were laid for the bride-to-be, Miss Halbert; her mother, Mrs. J. L. Halbert, and Misses Fanne Halbert, Frances Parr, Virginia Middleton and Beverly Dillon; Miss Mariella Burke, Mrs. George Swan, Miss Louise Womack, Mrs. Claude Meadows, Jr., Mrs. Armistead G. Rust and the hostess, at a very lovely table, which was centered with an artistic arrangement of white stocks and candytuft in a pair of white pottery cock design containers that rested on a mirror-reflector.

A three-course luncheon was served.

Buffet Supper.

Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Lowry Martin were host and hostess at a very lovely buffet supper which was attended by the bridal party and those who had entertained for Miss Halbert. The bare table was exquisite in its appointments of crystal and silver and center decoration of calla lilies in a large silver urn. Misses Fanne Halbert, Arabella Jester and Frances Parr presided at the table.

Rehearsal Dinner.

Mrs. C. H. Mills was hostess Sunday evening at her home on West Second avenue for the rehearsal dinner at 8 o'clock.

The dinner was served en buffet, the table having been centered with a beautiful bouquet of colorful spring flowers in a silver urn flanked with palo yellow candles in crystal candlesticks. Mrs. Lowry Martin and Mrs. Homer Jester presided at the table.

The sideboard was decorated with the yellow candles in a lovely crystal candelabra.

Included in the 35 guests present were the members of the bridal party, hostesses for pre-nuptial parties, and out of town relatives and friends here for the wedding.

Luncheon on Monday.

The wedding party and out of town guests for the wedding were guests of Mrs. Homer B. Jester Monday noon at a lovely luncheon.

Mrs. Jester chose white tulips as her table decorations, which were artistically arranged in crystal cornicopias on reflector mirrors, flanked with ivory candles in silver candelabra.

Mrs. Jack Fore and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson of Houston presided at the table, Mrs. Fore serving the artistic, molded tomato salad, and Mrs. Johnson the chicken croquettes. All helped themselves to the other delectable viands and found place at small tables.

After the fair is concluded, the trophy will be returned to Mrs. Stroube here.

HALF HOLIDAY FOR WORKERS AT COURT HOUSE THIS SUMMER

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK MADE DEPOSITORY FOR COUNTY SCHOOL FUNDS

Navarro county courthouse departments will be allowed to close at 1 p.m. on Saturdays during the months of May, June, July and August, an order passed by the commisisoners court Monday afternoon provided. The First National Bank of Corsicana was designated as the depository for the school funds of Navarro county. Two applications for appointment of deputy constables outside of Corsicana precinct were not granted. The remaining election returns of the school trustee elections, April 1, were canvassed and declared. Claims were allowed except as noted on the claim docket.

Commissioner C O. Slaughter of Currie made a motion that the application of Constable W. G. Ivey of Richland for the appointment of John Lansford as deputy but it died for the want of a second. The application of Leo Sands, constable of precinct 2, Chatfield, for the appointment of Rober Crue as deputy was tabled.

Vote Was Divided

The motion for the closing of the curthouse offices on Saturday afternoon was favored by Commisisoners J. N. George of Blooming Grove and T. P. Hayes of Corsicana. Commissioner Slaughter voted "No" while Commissioner C. M. Fitzgerald of Rice was present but did not vote on the proposal

Another meeting of the court will be held Friday morning when bills aggregating $3,000 for Commissioner Slaughter's precinct will be presented for payment. He asked they be paid Monday but action was deferred until Friday in order that they can be placed on the claim docket and be presented in the regular order of business.

Commissioner Fitzgerald was authorized to advertise for bids for the trading of a used road maintainer for a new machine, to be opened May 1.

Annual Junior-Senior Banquet of Rice High School on Saturday

RICE, April 12.—(Spl.)—The annual junior-senior banquet sponsored by Miss Virginia Jackson, was held Saturday evening, April 8, at 7:30 o'clock at the Methodist church.

The ingenious nautical motif was carried out with life savers lining the deck of the S. S. Rice. Models formed the centerpieces, and large conch shells held sprays of bridal wreath.

The senior class colors, blue and gold were carried out in the blue anchor place cards and the programs of gold pilot wheels. Tiny ship models served as favors. In carrying out the nautical atmosphere, the waitresses dressed in sailor costumes, sang "All Ashore" accompanied by Miss Janice Bell at the piano.

Invocation—Melton Pollan.

Toastmaster—William Denton Murff.

Toast to Seniors—Joy Cochran.

Response—John Darby Spencer.

Toast to Faculty—Juanita Swafford.

Response—Mr. Griffing.

Stroube and Jester To Attend Roundup California Ranches

W. C. Stroube and Beauford H. Jester will leave about May 1 for California to attend the annual round-up of the Cowboy Caravan. This spectacular and unusual event will last for several days.

The members are attired in all the cowboy regalia, travel from ranch to ranch on horseback and are guests of the ranch owners.

This California trip will prevent Stroube, owner of many fine race horses, from attending the annual Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky.

Nicholson Home Now Under Construction

Work is going forward rapidly on the new home for Mr. and Mrs. Danny T. Nicholson at the corner of Elmwood and Twenty-fourth street. The colonial design of the house captures as much as possible of the atmosphere of Mount Vernon.

The living room and a den will be in the central part of the house with the three bedroms in the west wing and the drawing room, breakfast room and kitchen on the east.

This home is being built under FHA specification and supervised by J. E. Metcalf, Jr. The materials are furnished by the Navarro County Lumber Company.

Of 1297 users queried among those of 12 states, 1206 stated CARDUI benefitted them. That is 93 out of every 100!

Users everywhere are glad to tell how CARDUI has made them want and enjoy food; how, with its help, they gained strength, energy, were thus relieved of the symptoms of "functional dysmenorrhea" due to malnutrition. Many also say that, when symptoms indicate the need, CARDUI in larger doses helps "at the time" to soothe pain.

Methodist-Baptist Women's Class Met At Powell Monday

POWELL, April 11.—(Spl.)—Monday afternoon the Methodist and Baptist Women's Class met in the home of Mrs. Jarvis Miller. In the absence of Mrs. Bob Lowe, Mrs. Sol Ross led the devotional which was followed with prayer by Mrs. Stucker.

Reports from the committees were given. This month $4 was raised which brings our remodeling fund to approximately $71. Since the mens' class has raised very little of this donation, the women are going to ask them for a freewill offering. Having no fear that the men will raise enough to finish the repairing, the women are making plans to buy chairs for ths beginners.

After business meeting, Mrs. Stucker reviewed another portion of the book which she is teaching each meeting day.

We urge each member to be present at the next meeting, as we are bringing a gift valued at 25 cents. Then each one buys a gift out of the assortment of packages for 25 cents.

The next meeting, May 8, will be in the home of Mrs. R. E. Bush. Our friends have a special invitation.—Reporter.

THE CORSICANA DAILY SUN DAILY PATTERN

Chic With or Without Collar!

PATTERN 4091

by Anne Adams

Keep in step with fashion by wearing this new Anne Adams style. "I love the scalloped effect at your waistline," friends will say, and indeed they'll be right in admiring this smart higher-waist feature. Then too, both versions of the neckline simply breathe that new love of prettiness now animating the fashion world! Instead of the ever-so-flattering, frill-trimmed collar, you may have the delightful collarless neck with ruching and a slip-through bow. Shirrings and gathers in the soft bodice, and gores in the skirt, are further guarantees of glamour. A spaced print or summery monotones are best materials for this very-easy-to-use pattern!

Pattern 4091 is available in misses and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 5-8 yards 39 inch fabric and 1 5-8 yards pleating.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Order, and enjoy, the first Anne Adams Spring Pattern Book ever issued! All those stunning clothes you want to make in a jiffy are "paged!" Select from frocks for classroom, office and the home! Also—"special occasion" gowns, sportswear, suits, lingerie, and ensembled outfits! Patterns for everyone from one to seventy are included, and each brings important hints on how to sew easily, thriftily, smartly! Write today. Price of Book fifteen cents. Price of Pattern, fifteen cents. Together, Book and Pattern are twenty-five cents.

MISS LIZA HALBERT BECOMES BRIDE JAMES RANDOLPH RUTH IN CHURCH CEREMONY ON MONDAY

Following a wedding trip to New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. James Randolph Ruth will make their home in Houston.

The bride was Miss Liza Halbert, daughter of Mrs. Joshua Lucius Halbert, before her marriage Monday afternoon, April 10 at 5 o'clock at the First Methodist church.

Mr. Ruth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernst A. Ruth of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The church altar and chancel were decorated with bouquets of Calla and Easter lillies, pink snapdragons and blue hydrangia in marble urns, with clusters of the lillies on the chancel rail and entwined about the silver candelabra and candlesticks that held miriads of glowing white tapers.

Dr. P. E. Riley, pastor of the church performed the ceremony and the wedding music was given by Mrs. Boyce Martin, who sang "Because," and Miss Margaret Pannill, organist, who played a fifteen minute program of prenuptial selections while the guests were assembling and the traditional wedding marches.

Dr. Homer B. Jester gave his niece in marriage. She made a lovely bride in a gown of white starched marquisette, fashioned with a full bodice, sweetheart necklace demurely-gathered short puffed sleeves and a billowy skirt attached to a wide band of embroidered marquisette. Her finger-tip veil of bridal illusion outlined in narrow satin ribbon, was attached to a halo of marquisette and orange blossoms, With this she wore long white gloves, and carried a shower bouquet of white lilac and lilies of the valley.

Sister Maid of Honor.

The maid of honor, Miss Fanne Halbert, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Misses Beverly Dillon, Ithica, N. Y., Arabella Jester, Virginia Middleton and Frances Parr of Hillsboro and Dallas, wore identical gowns of Cerulean blue marquisette, fashioned like the bride's gown. Their cartwheel hats of burnt Milan straw were trimmed with multicolored field flowers and grossgrain ribbon streamers in the burnt shade. They carried arm bouquets of multi-colored spring flowers tied with harmonizing satin ribbon, the maid of honor's having been distinguished by deep pink ribbon, while the bridesmaids were the soft yellow ribbons.

Lisa Meadows, two and a half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Meadows, Jr., of San Angelo, cousin of the bride, was the little flower girl. Her dress of blue marquisette was fashioned the same as the bride's and attendants and she wore a bandeau of field flowers in her hair. She carried a deep pink bonnet filled with spring flowers.

Mr. Jack Fore of Houston attended Mr. Ruth as best man. The ushers and groomsmen were Josh Halbert, Homer Jester, Jr., Josh Halbert Parr of Hillsboro, and Joe Tennant of Houston.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, 1250 West Third Avenue, following the ceremony for the out-of-town guests and members of the family. Bouquets of Easter lilies and bridal wreath; lavender and purple iris; salmon pink gladioli, lavender stock and yellow snapdragon and pink roses were floral decorations of the home.

Bride's Table.

The bride's table was laid in Venetian lace and was centered with the bride's cake, a beautiful wedding ring design confection, embossed in white, full-blown poppies, calla lilies, brides roses and delicate green leaves, that rested on a large round mirror. The table was decorated in calla lilies white stock and ranunculas in silver and crystal containers, and white candles in crystal candelabra and candlesticks, artistically arranged as a setting for the cake. Mrs. Kenneth Johnson of Houston, sister of the bridegroom and Mrs. James K. Parr of Hillsboro, aunt of the bride, assisted in the dining room and in cutting the cake which was served with ice cream molded in calla lily design.

Mrs. Ruth selected a two piece black Pietro model cut very simply as her traveling dress. The jacket was clasped with gold frogs. Under this she wore a hand-made white blouse. Her black halo hat set off the face with a band of white, was veiled in black; and she wore black patent accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of orchids with a spray of lilies of the valley.

The bridegroom is a former student of Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., and is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

Mrs. Ruth attended Hollins College in Virginia and the University of Texas, where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

A salad course was served to members of the club, visiting performers and the following guests: Mrs. R. P. Walker, Mrs. H. J. Newsome, Mrs. Howell Brister, Mrs. Cliff Coates, Mrs Andrew McClung, and little Misses Shirley Taylor, Jean Westbrook, Lynette McClung and Master Jimmie Spencer.

William M. Curtis Recipient of High Honor at Culver

CULVER, Ind., April 13.—(Spl.)—William M. Curtis, 2112 West Fifth Avenue, Corsicana, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Curtis, recently received one of the highest honors to be attained by a new cadet in the infantry battalion at the Culver Military Academy when he won the Culver Rifles (C. R.) award.

The C. R. award is granted on the basis of written and oral tests for special excellency in various infantry movements, military courtesy, the manual of arms, guard duty, arm signals, rank and command, knowledge of the nomenclature of the rifle and bayonet, and rifle marksmanship safety rules. In addition to the technical subjects in either the infantry, cavalry, or field artillery, a cadet is required to pass an auto safety test given under the direction of the Chicago Motor Club. This safety requirement is part of the test made of all cadets ta the Academy before they can receive their emblems which signify full membership in the organization in the corps of cadets.

Navarro Chapter of UDC Met Wednesday At Kinsloe House

The Navarro Chapter U. D. C. met in regular session Wednesday, April 12, 1939, at Kinsloe House in the Emma Townsend room at 3:30 p. m. with Mrs. W. K. Steele, treasurer, presiding in the absence of the president, Mrs. H. F. Marr.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. H. Kaufman, and after the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Mrs. Bell White, secretary, communications were read and reports of the committee chairmen were given.

Mrs. White gave a report of the luncheon given recently at Kinsloe House chapter, honoring members of the Dallas chapters.

Taking up the historical program, Mrs. Steele read the honorable discharge of W. S. Biddle, confederate soldier of Missippi, who was the grandfather of Mrs. Billington Hall. The discharge document was in a good state of preservation considering its age, only the ink being slightly faded.

Mrs. M. L. D. Adams, historian, presented Miss Alice Johnson, who read an interesting article from "The Southern Magazine" on the U. D. C. Jefferson Davis Highway, describing the many historical spots and beautiful scenery found on this road, where are also many memorial trees.

Mrs. C. E. King gave an antibellum, negro story by Sarah Singleton King, which was enjoyed.

The chapter was happy to have as a guest and a prospective member, Mrs. Billington Hall.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. J. A. Sanders, chaplain.

SEEK INCREASED MEMBERSHIP AS KINSLOE HOUSE LAUNCHES DRIVE; PLAN MANY ACTIVITIES

By ETHEL WORTHAM

On May 10th, 1938, Kinsloe House opened its doors to the women of this community, for many, a life-long dream come true, and since that time, it has proven a valuable asset to the women of Corsicana. The constant use of the club house for social contacts, parties, luncheons, meetings of groups and committees has clearly demonstrated its popularity, and plans for another successful year are now being made.

The club has no outstanding liabilities, and at the close of the first year, the membership is larger than it was at its beginning. The hostess-caterer, Mrs. George E. Jester is in position to furnish most excellent service for any kind of a social entertainment desired by the members.

During the past eleven months, the club house has been used by 7,231 persons, and the following affairs have been enjoyed there: 1 breakfast, 3 terrace parties, 4 card tournaments, 10 dinner parties, 6 musical teas, 6 bridge parties, 19 teas, 24 parties, and 52 luncheons, not including the regular club meetings and recitals which have been held by the score.

At Work on Coming Attractions

Mrs. W. K. Steele and her board of directors are all at work and enthusiastic over the prospects for the activities of the coming year. One outstanding feature is being planned for each month. Luncheons are enjoyed each Wednesday the year round, and bridge tournaments are planned at an early date, and at the close of the membership drive an elaborate BIRTHDAY PARTY is being planned. Many interested members and friends are planning the presentation of gifts to the house on May 10th, at which time the organization will celebrate in a fitting manner.

The handsome Steinway Grand piano, presented to the house as a memorial gift from Mrs. Ralph Kinsloe, will be dedicated in an appropriate manner, and other features for the day and evening are being worked out.

Membership Drive Opened Today

The membership drive started today, and any woman in Corsicana or Navarro county, as well as in nearby towns, can secure membership cards by phoning any member of the committee, which is composed of the board of directors of the Club House Association: Mesdames W. K. Steele, M. S. Dockum, Bell White, Lynne Wortham, R. B. Molloy, J. S. Halley, W. H. Hastings, C. J. Colp, Max Almond, M. E. Foust, Ernest Newman, Jack Roberts, Minnie Sutton, J. S. Murchison, R. W. Gross, Roy Love, R. B. Mitchell, C. E. King Wayne Howell, W. A. Hammett, Emma Townsend, Theresa Archibald, R. L. Wheelock, W. C. Stroube, Beauford Jester, C. A. Tripp, H. G. Johnston, Will Thompson, Harry Johnson, R. L. Hamilton, Ed M. Polk, Norman Morrison, Louise Pace King, J. E. Whitesell and Misses Annabelle Cavender, and Lizzie McElwee.

The membership drive for both old and new members will continue until May 10th, at which time a victory celebration and birthday party is planned.

Those working on the drive will report each Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at Kinsloe House throughout the month of May, with Mrs. W. K. Steele, president of the Club House Association, as general organizer of the campaign to keep things going.

Forty-three Attend Birthday Observance Of J. E. Hargrave

Forty-three persons attended the birthday celebration honoring Mr. J. E. Hargrave of Waller county, Sunday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Berta Harris, 808 South Beaton street. Mr. Hargrave will be 84 years of age Thursday.

All of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Hargrave have never been present at any family gathering at the same time and some left Sunday before others arrived.

Other than Mr. and Mrs. Hargrave present included their ten children, J. R. and E. L Hargrave of Ranger, O. D. and E. G. Hargrave of Waller; C. W. Hargrave of Fort Worth, L. L. Hargrave of Sherman, Noma Bass, Dallas; Lila Carson, Myra Prewitt and Mrs. Harris, all of Corsicana; 12 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren and other visitors including Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Young Business, Professional Men Greet Newcomers

A committee composed of members of the Young Business and Professional Men's Association, will make a personal call upon each new resident of the city and present cards entitling the holder to merchandise or service, it was announced Thursday by Julius Jacobs, president of the organization.

"The purpose of the plan is twofold," Mr. Jacobs said. "First, to welcome each person or family who moves into the city by presenting these gifts, and second, to get the people into our local stores that they may become acquainted and perhaps permanent customers of the establishment," he stated.

It was pointed out by the president there would be no solicitation of the merchants or business men but any desiring to participate in this welcome are requested to notify Mr. Jacobs or James T. West, vice-president or any other official of the organization.

A number of merchants and business men are now taking part in the welcome and articles and service are being given the new comers.

CHEAP MONEY

About the cheapest thing in America lately seems to be money. Or perhaps we should say financial credit. A big city that was paying 6 per cent interest on its borrowings five years ago is now getting all the money it wants at 2.6 per cent. Various other cities are refunding bond issues around 3 per cent and getting short-term loans for less than that.

The federal government has been the biggest beneficiary of this cheapening of credit. In spite of its vast increase in bonded debt, it is said to be carrying the total burden at less expense for interest than it did when the national debt was only half as large. On short-term loans it has been getting money for a small fraction of one per cent.

Unfortunately private borrowers cannot do this. They usually have to pay 5 to 6 per cent. There are better rates for big borrowers; but for most folks, money costs as much as ever, and is harder to pay back.

It might be better if public loans cost more, and private loans less. Then there would be more incentive for people generally to invest in productive enterprise and take business risks that would promote recovery.

MINDS EASILY DIVERTED

Ohio legislators who want to make their state safe on the Fourth of July are stopped by general indifference. Last July, after noisy and destructive celebrations, many citizens vigorously demanded that laws be enacted to curb the sale of fireworks at roadside stands, the illegal bootlegging of fireworks in cities which had outlawed them by local ordinances, and so on. State action was obviously necessary and the public supported it.

Eight months later, almost everybody has forgotten the noise, the shattered nerves, the fires and explosions and injuries. The flimsy roadside stand, crammed with fireworks that might be set off by a mischievous child or a careless smoker, has been folded up and put away until summer and memory of its menace has been packed up, too.

This is not the only situation in which human memory is short. There is the man who never mends his roof because he doesn't think of it when the sun shines and can't do it when the rain falls. And there are all of us who have forgotten Spain and China while we watch Czechoslovakia, and who forget, in studying maps and reading of marching soldiers, the underlying causes and the interrupted search for their cures.

Ancient Rome had two administrative heads who ruled the country alternately, six months at a time. Now suppose we let business and government try that!

Mussolini has made the Island of Capri a bird sanctuary. Unfortunately for them, political opponents, Jews and Ethiopians are not birds.

The trouble with totalitarian states is that they put the wrong fellows in the concentration camps.

Every fellow with a hobby thinks other people's hobbies are funny. And they are.

ADVICE AND PRACTICE

One day, not feeling over-well,
I asked a doctor wise to tell
What drug or tincture would restore
The health that I had known before.
"Slow down, my boy!" was what he said,
"Or very shortly you'll be dead!"

"Neither man's body nor his mind
Was for this modern pace designed;
The Lord intended and desired
A man to rest when he grew tired,
That he might sometimes stop and snooze,
He gave man lots of time to lose.

"That's all! Henceforth don't overdo!
And see me in a week or two.
I'm sorry. I've no time to stay,
But I'm obliged to rush away.
The car is at the door for me.
I've seven more patients I must see.

"Remember—" as he grabbed his hat,
"Eat plainer food—not too much fat!
And take it easy! I must run.
I'll never get my calling done!
Although I'm tired as I can be,
I've seven more patients still to see!"

SOCIAL SECURITY CHANGES.

It is good news to business that the Social Security Board, Secretary Morgenthau and President Roosevelt are all agreed that the $47,000,000,000 reserve fund supposed to be amassed for the future payment of old age insurance is not necessary. They suggest that the comparatively small amount of three billions or less should be the goal. To effect this, Secretary Morgenthau recommends that the automatic increase in the payroll tax which would have become effective in 1940 be made smaller or postponed entirely for two years more.

Two benefits derive from this decision. The critics who held that the $47,000,000,000 reserve fund would never be anything but a fiction and a deception, will not have to worry about it any more. The evils they believe it would create are now eliminated.

More important, perhaps, the additional tax on employers' payrolls and employees' wages is dropped and business is given release from one of the burdens of which it has complained.

Important, too, is this tangible evidence that further changes in the Social Security Act may be made as their need becomes clear. The principle of social security seems to be a permanent addition to American life, but the right law to make it effective is probably yet to be written.

THEY KNOW IT ALL

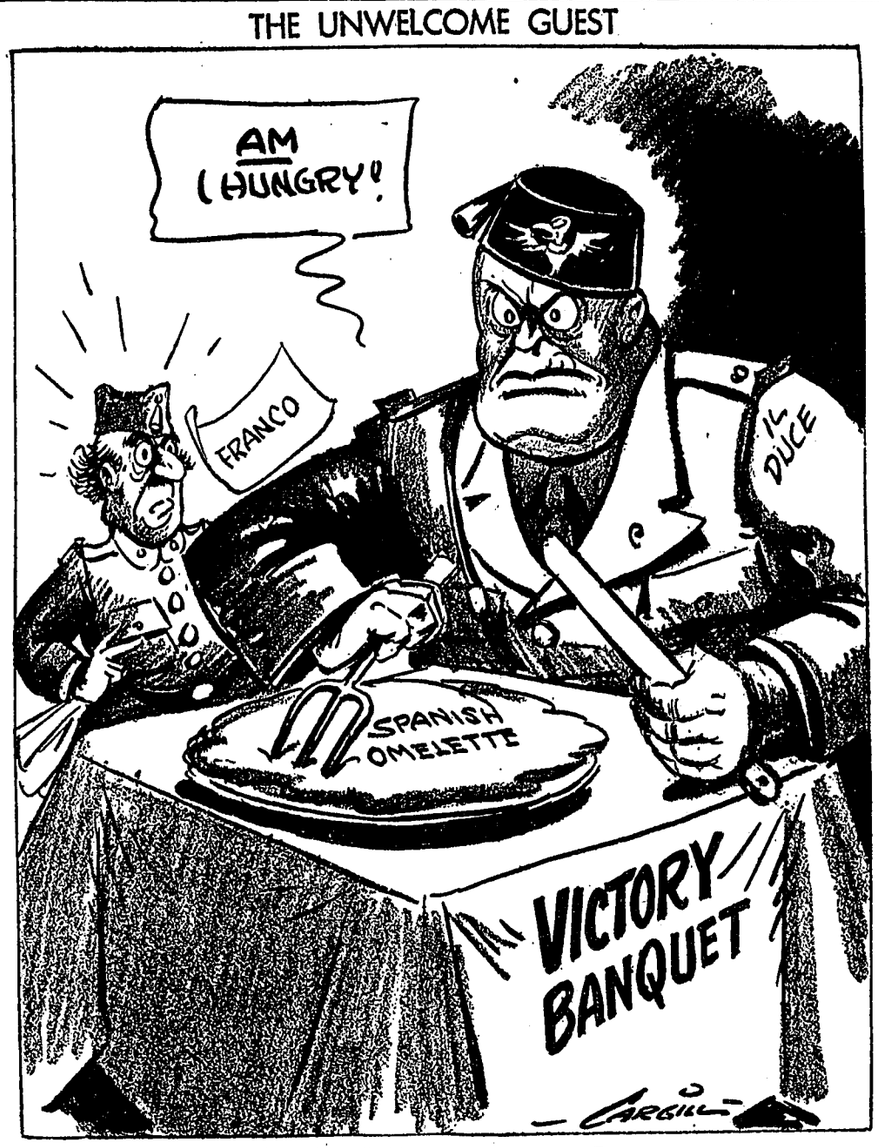

The most astonishing thing about those curious totalitarians now governing so much of Europe is their self-assurance. William F. McDermott in the Cleveland Plain Dealer tells of an interesting talk he had with an American ambassador to one of the dictatorship countries on this subject.

"They are extraordinarily naive," said the diplomat. "Their system of government is new and untried. They have had little experience in administration. They have no past to fall back upon. They believe most fervently in things which most of the world believes to be ridiculous. You would think they were discoverers of government and that the thousands of years in which men have patiently evolved systems of living counted for nothing and had no meaning.

"They know it all, and nobody else knows anything at all. Religion, parliamentary administration, individual freedom, civil rights, open trials, constitutional guarantees—all the things for which men have bled and died and which they have held precious for centuries—seem to them mere poppycock to be airily dismissed for a farrago of absurdities.

"They pride themselves on their logic, their capacities as advanced thinkers, and they are mental sophomores, half-baked, utterly and wonderfully naive."

THE UNWELCOME GUEST

IDLENESS IN LONDON

War threats are not the only big trouble England is having. The unemployment which began 20 years ago still continues. Recently there were 2,000,000 workers without jobs, in spite of all the armament and military recruiting. The "dole" about which we used to hear so much, in the deepest depression, has never been abandoned, and many Englishmen doubt that it ever will be.

Idle workmen do not tamely submit, either. There is nearly always some sort of demonstration going on around No. 10 Downing Street, which might be called the "British White House." Recently a crowd of ragged men broke into Grosvenor House, a luxurious hotel frequented by many Americans, shouted for work, and lay down on the thick carpets in front of the startled guests. There was similar action at the Savoy Hotel, with scores of jobless men lying on the front steps and covering themselves with banners on which demands for work were printed.

In one such demonstration there were banners reading, "Unemployed — Leisure Is No Pleasure." It isn't—for anybody. And it is the greatest evil that capitalist society is now struggling with.

AUTO THIEVES

The stealing of automobiles by young fellows, mostly for joy-rides, is coming to be a nuisance. The owners are inconvenienced and often suffer serious loss. The thieves damage themselves as well as the cars and are heading for a life of crime.

It is doubtful, though, that the registrar of motor vehicles in Massachusetts has the best remedy. He proposes to punish these "young hoodlums" by giving them a good licking in public. He suggests a horsewhip for the purpose.

Now, for one thing, where would anybody get a horseswhip? And besides, it isn't really a horse-and-buggy offense. The punishment should fit the crime.

It would be logical to deprive any such offender of the privilege of riding in an automobile for a given length of time, but the penalty would be hard to enforce.

One thing that might be effective would be parade such culprits around town in a big truck, bearing the label: "These Boys Have Stolen Cars." They would hardly want to repeat such a ride.

NOT A BAD TAX

Income tax payments made this month for the first quarter were lower than for the same period last year, but were about $75,000,000 more than the Treasury had anticipated. They reflected last year's business decline, which seems to have been as hard on Uncle Sam as on individual nieces and nephews.

No tax is loved. The income tax, however, is accepted, if not cheerfully, at least philosophically, as a tax which comes as close as any to being reasonble, just and fair. Most citizens would be glad to pay the government a bigger income tax, if it meant their own incomes were bigger.

TEST OF DEMOCRACY

Says Roy W. Howard, writing his observations on a recent visit to Italy:

"Day by day, the fact is made more apparent that America's lure to the immigrant in pre-war days did not lie in the offer of political freedom. America's appeal was based on the offer of jobs and economic advantages. The stream of Italian emigrants returning jobless from America in the past 10 years has been a black eye for democracy and a build-up for Fascism."

There is no use in trying to dodge this fact. Most of our immigrants came here for economic reasons. And even when there were political reasons, the chance for a better living must have been usually the strongest appeal. It must be said for autocracies at least that they do provide their people with steady jobs and a living, however poor that living is in comparison with American standards.

The ultimate test of our American way of life seems to become an economic test. If we cannot provide work for our people, the American system becomes discredited. To preserve democracy, we must solve these economic problems.

Shivering, scientists find, is nature's device for making chilly people warm, but it's no use telling that to a fellow when he's shivering.

Future historians may find it hard to pick the villian of our times—German aggression, or British surrender.

Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof, says Congress, postponing the lifting of the national debt limit.

TRAINING PROGRAM FOR SCOUT LEADERS WILL OPEN TONIGHT

The Boy Scout training program opening Tuesday evening, April 11th at St. John's Episcopal church parish house will be known as the Introduction to Scouting. It will be organized on the basis of a troop with patrols of eight each. There will be a senior leader, Scoutmaster and a troop committee, Chairman Allen said.

In order to show how a troop is operated everything done during the six sessions will be handled on a troop basis. Records will be kept on a patrol basis and turned into the troop scribe. A registration of 50c and 10c dues for remaining five sessions will be handled by the thrift man on the troop committee.

The chairman of the troop committee for the course will distribute the following: Scoutmaster's troop program notebook; Troop Budget plan book; Scoutmaster and His Troop pamphlet; Boy Scout Handbook; Scoutmaster's First Six Weeks pamphlet, and Scoutmaster's Handbook volume I. Literature to all persons participating without additional expense. The advancement members of the training committee will award certificates to all completing five of the six sessions of training program.

This training program will give the fundamentals of Scouting, How to Start a Troop Duties of various Troop Officers, How to Make Troop Programs, How to Develop a yearly program and how to put over Second Class requirements. In other words the program will be developed so leaders can put it over to boys, Chiarman Allen said.

FIRST SESSION OF TRAINING PROGRAM BOY SCOUT LEADERS

At the first session of the Boy Scout training program for Navarro county district, two patrols were organized with Clyde Halbert, patrol leader of the Crow patrol, and W. M. Elliott, patrol leader of the Buffalo patrol, Prof. O. F. Allen, chairman, announced. Other members of the Crow patrol are W. C. Mahaley, M. Blumrosen, R. E. Briggs, George C. Henry, J. C. Watson and Ken Baldwin. Members of the Buffalo patrol are W. H. West, O. F. Allen, J. R. Clark, J. C. Parle, Dr. H. A. Juengerman, Wm. V. Mowlam and R. A. (Jack) Mergenthaler.

At their first session, "Scouting —What It Is and What It Seeks To Do" was presented by Carl A. Bryan, special Scout executive. Prof. O. F. Allen presented the subject, "What Scouting Can Do For Us and Our Boys." The next session will be Thursday evening, held at St. John's Episcopal church parish house, starting promptly at 8 p. m., Allen said.

Because the blue and gold football game falls on the last night of the course the program will be stepped up so as not to interfere with this all important game he said.

Recent Bride Given Surprise Shower At Richland Friday

The Richland Eastern Star and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bay Lansford gave a surprise shower on Friday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Anderson.

Mrs. Lansford, the former Miss Vern Stevens, had been invited to a study at Mrs. Anderson's. When she arrived, she found about forty friends gathered to give her a surprise party and shower. Many useful and lovely gifts were received by the bride after the packages had been opened and admired by all.

The hostess served delicious punch and cookies.—Contributed.

NYA IS PLANNING COMMUNITY CENTER FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

A community center for boys and girls in Corsicana, sponsored by the DAR under the supervision of the National Youth Administration is expected to be a reality within the near future. This announcement was made Wednesday by Marion Dark of Mexia, area supervisor for the NYA. Dark stated Mrs. Arthur Caldwell, regent of the DAR, is in charge.

In explaining the project to be sponsored here, the area supervisor pointed out that supervised activities are carried out, including various phases of homemaking, recreation, personal hygiene, health, etc.

A location for the center and other details to be worked out are being considered at the present time by those interested in the project, Dark continued.

Girls eligible to avail themselves of the activities of the proposed community center are those of any age, and are not restricted to those eligible under the relief agencies, but any and all girls of the community will be allowed to participate in the activities, Dark asserted.

Additional information on the proposal will be secured later. A similar project is now being conducted in Waco.

DISEASE CONTROL · PURER FOODS
LONGER LIFE · DISEASE PREVENTION
CLEANER CITIES · HEALTHIER ANIMALS

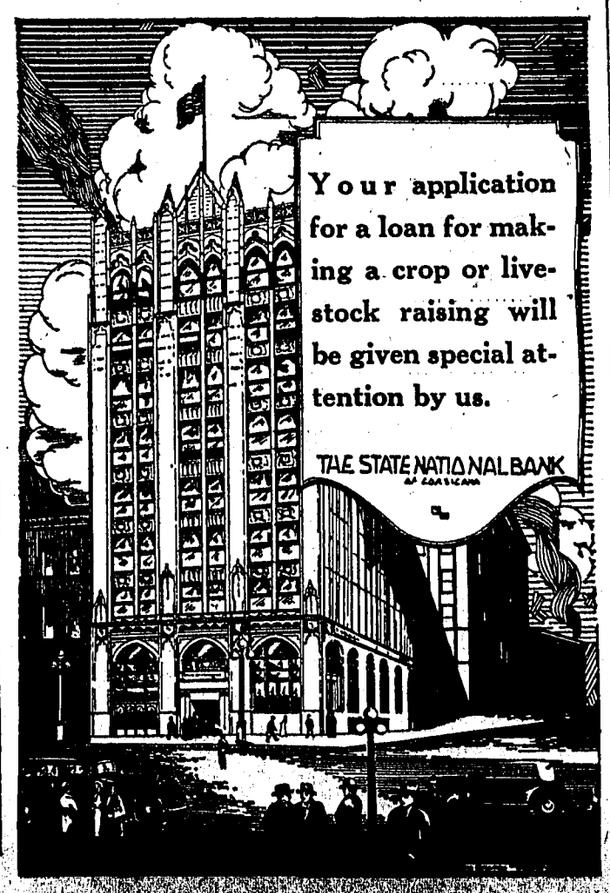

Louis Pasteur, French scientist, created the "germ" theory of disease, or discovered bacteriology. Koch, in Germany, systematized and applied it to the diseases of man, and Dr. Herman Biggs, in America, organized it as a practical element in the control of disease.

Through endless research, experiment and clinical experience, this science of bacteriology has made possible definite and effective progress against many terrors of mankind.

The spread of disease germs by means of water, milk and other foods is being controlled with conspicuous success. Typhoid has dropped a remarkable degree in every civilized community, through purification of the water supply and use of vaccine. Through testing of cattle and supervision of milk supplies, the prevalence of many diseases has been greatly reduced - - typhoid, tuberculosis of the glands, joints and spine, diphtheria, scarlet fever, septic sore throat and infant diarrhea. Supervision of food dispensaries has done much to give us cleaner, purer foods of every kind.

Pasteur, in 1885, developed a vaccine against rabies. This was his last contribution to Science.

A LESSON IN ARITHMETIC

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

April 11, 1939.

My dear Senator Pepper:

In reply to your inquiry, I think there is nothing for me to add or to subtract from what I have made so clear on so many occasions since last January.

The sole question of continuing relief to July first is one of arithmetic.

If one hundred million dollars is voted, between three and four hundred thousand fewer people can be given work relief than if one hundred fifty million dollars is voted -- and in addition practically none of the seven or eight hundred thousand people on the waiting list can be given employment.

It seems to me that that is the long and the short of it.

Very sincerely yours,

Franklin D. Roosevelt

Honorable Claude Pepper,
United States Senate,
Washington, D. C.

Here is a copy of the letter President Roosevelt wrote Sen. Claude Pepper (D-Fla) in which the chief executive said it was a matter of arithmetic that 300,000 to 400,000 work relief jobs would be eliminated if congress did not appropriate the $150,000,000 WPA fund asked by the president.

EXCELLENT SERVICE IN ELEVENTH AVENUE METHODIST REVIVAL

"Not Far From The Kingdom" or "Almost Is Not Enough" was the preacher's sermon subject last night at the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church. This was one of the best services thus far during this revival meeting.

At the close of the service Rev. R. O. Sory, the presiding elder of the Corsicana district held the second quarterly conference. All reports showed that every organization in the church were in a healthy condition. J. I. Ellett was elected as a delegate to the ensuing annual conference which meets this fall. The election of Mr. Ellett to the annual conference was the first time in the history of the Southern Methodist church that a delegate has been elected by the quarterly conference. Pat Cooper, the general superintendent of the church school, was elected alternate.

Mrs. Boyce Martin was the soloist last night. These gospel messages in song are always helpful and appreciated by the congregation.

MOTHER CORSICANA MAN DIED THURSDAY IN INDIANAPOLIS

Mr. and Mrs. Blackwell and Mrs. W. D. Dansby left immediately for Indianapolis and funeral arrangements have not been announced pending their arrival.

Two Advancements Made Local Scout Troops on Monday

Two Scouts from Troop 24 Corsicana, made advancemen Monday night at the Distric Court of Honor, held in the district court room of the court house.

The two Scouts to advance were J. R. Blumrosen from First Class to Star Scout, and Frenchie Huff from Second Class to First Class Scout. These two also received two merit badges each. They were J. R. Blumrosen, public health and safety, and Frenchie Huff, public health and bugling.

Scouts from all of the troops of the Corsicana district of the Circle 10 Council were at the Court of Honor. Also all troops shared in the distributin of the awards. Each troop had at least two members to advance.

Quite a few Scouts are planning to represent the local troops at the next District Court of Honor to be held in Rice, June 12.

News of County Home Demonstration Clubs

Oak Valley Club.

Miss Clara E. Rettiger, home demonstration agent, met with 16 members of the Oak Valley club at the home of Mrs. Walter Little April 10.

Miss Rettiger talked on prevention of fowlpox and diphtheria among poultry.

Symptoms of the diseases, Miss Rettiger said, are external sores, first appearing on the head when it is pox, and internal sores appearing in the mouth and throat of the fowl is a sign of diphtheria. "Vaccination of entire flock is a sure preventitive," the agent explained, "and is very easy to perform." After purchasing the vaccine, keep in refrigerator until used. May, June or July are best months to vaccinate in. To perform the vaccination, extract three feathers from the leg. This will bring the blood. Apply vaccine with a small brush or stick with one upward stroke and one downward.

Mrs. T. E. Young reports having raised 685 chickens out of 721 baby chicks. From 219 baby chicks Miss Hortense Waters has raised 210.

After 10 minutes of recreation, led by Mrs. Inez Fulton, refreshments were served to the members and one visitor, Mrs. Homer Logan. The next meeting will be April 26, with Mrs. W. N. McNeil and Mrs. Lloyd Averitt in the home of the latter.—Reporter.

Mt. Nebo Club.

The Mt. Nebo Home Demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. Advil Michell with seven members and two visitors present.

Each member answered the roll call with whether or not she intended to cull and vaccinate her poultry flock.

After the business session, our poultry demonstrator, Mrs. C. C. Frost, gave a very helpful talk on "How to Get Rid of Star Boarders."

The meeting adjourned to meet at Mrs. Carl Gunn's April 24.—Reporter.

Corbet Club.

Fowlpox, sore head, cankers, is a widespread disease causing many complications, Miss Clara E. Rettiger, county home demonstration agent, told a group of Corbet home demonstration club women Tuesday afternoon, April 11, in the home of Mrs. Rufus Pevehouse.

Pox, with its complications of sorehead and cankers, is one of the oldest and most widely recognized diseases of poultry. The dry form of pox attacks the skin of the comb, face, nose, wattles, and sometimes the feet. The small red pimple which is noticed at first, gradually grows to reach its largest size in about 12 days. The scab has prongs extending down into the skin and if pulled off will bleed. Healing takes place in from three to six weeks. After the scabs fall off, white scars remain for several days.

Wet pox or canker attacks the lining of the mouth, pharnyx and upper end of the windpipe. It may also attack the trachea, air sacks and intestinal tract. The cankers vary in size, are covered with a cheesy material and have prongs that extend deeply into membranes, adhere firmly and bleed when removed.

When indications of pox are noticed, vaccinate at once to immunize the birds before losses occur. The sick birds should be removed and placed in a warm, well ventilated house. Treat each bird individually. Kill, bury or burn all girds too far gone for treatment.

Miss Rettiger continued by saying that these diseases can be easily prevented by vaccination. The best time to vaccinate is when the chicks are from six to 12 weeks old. The vaccination should be done in dry, warm weather. May, June and July are ideal months.

The hostess, Mrs. Rufus Pevehouse, assisted by Mrs. J. E. Fogg, and Mrs. Sam Tucker, served ice cream, candied pineapple and cookies to 22 old and one new member, Mrs. M. M. Lord, and one visitor, Mrs. Wilburn Stewart, of Emhouse.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Sam Tucker, April 25.

Emhouse Club

"Every person engaged in poultry production, regardless of the size of the enterprise, should have a working knowledge of culling," Miss Essie Melton, poultry demonstrator, told the members of the Emhouse Home Demonstration Club, at a meeting at Mrs. Ira Stoke's, April 11, 1939.

Culling should be started with the day-old chicks and be continued throughout the life of the birds. A sickly chick should not be allowed to remain in the brooder house in order to "give it a chance." Such chicks are a menace to the health of the others and should be culled.

Some hens do not lay because they are not properly fed. Such things as improper feeding, poor housing, mites, lice, intestinal worms, or lack of abundant shade and water may keep good hens from being good producers.

The first step in selecting good layers is to be able to tell the hens that are laying from those that are out of production. The comb and wattles of the laying hen will be bright red, large, full and waxy. The eyes will be bright and of deep color which gives her an alert appearance.

The poor producer, or cull, usually has a long slender, snake-like head, dull, sunken eyes and coarse, meaty face.

There are two ways to judge the past production of a hen: First, the disappearance of yellow pigment. When a yellow skinned pullet start so lay she has stored up in her body a supply of yellow pigment. This can be easily seen in the beak, the eye ring, the ear lobe, and the shanks and toe; second, the molt. As long as a hen is laying she usually maintains her feathers, but when she stops laying in the summer she nearly always begins to molt. A high production hen molts late and finishes quickly.

The high producer is nearly always active and vigorous, first off the roost in the morning, and the last on the roost at night. She is easy to handle. The poor layer is flighty and nervous. Cull the hens tthat are persistently broody.

Refreshments of cake and grape juice was served to eleven members.

FULL RELIEF FUND IS DECLARED MERELY MATTER ARITHMETIC

PRESIDENT DECLARES BETWEEN 300,000 AND 400,000 JOBS BE ELIMINATED

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said in a letter to Senator Pepper (D-Fla) today it was a matter of arithmetic that between 300,000 and 400,000 work relief jobs would be eliminated if congress appropriated only $100,000,000 for the WPA.

Mr. Roosevelt originally asked for a $150,000,000 appropriation. The house voted $100,000,000, and Pepper has been leading a senate fight for the full appropriation.

Pepper had inquired as to the President's views on the reduction.

"In reply to your inquiry" Mr. Roosevelt wrote, "I think there is nothing for me to add or to subtract from what I have made clear on so many occasions since last January.

"The sole question of continuing relief to July first is one of arithmetic.

"If one hundred million dollars is voted, between three and four hundred thousand fewer people can be given work relief than if one hundred and fifty million is voted—and in addition practically none of the seven or eight hundred thousand people on the waiting lists can be given employment.

"It seems to me that is the long and short of it."

Hopeful For New Statements.

Pepper and his supporters had been hopeful Mr. Roosevelt would make some new statement in favor the full appropriation.

Senator Barkley (D-Ky) and other administration leaders agreed on a $100,000,000 appropriation after senate appropriations committee members threatened to recommend less than this sum.

Peper then launched his independent fight for the $150,000,000 appropriation, but conceded there was slight chance the senate would approve the sum.

Whatever appropriation is voted will go to supplement funds already available for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Debate on the $100,000,000 bill was resumed at about the time the President's letter was made public.

Senator Wiley (R-Wis) opposing the Pepper increase, said even $100,000,000 would boost relief spending for the first six months of 1939 to aproximately $1,000,000,000.

Senator Adams (D-Colo), floor manager for the relief measure, told the chamber had there been "efficient administration" of the WPA, the $725,000,000 appropriation voted in January would have been suficient to carry on relief until June 30.

He charged Col. F. C. Harrington, the WPA administrator, had "defied" congressional efforts to economize on relief.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky announced, meanwhile, that he believed there would be a vote on the proposed increase later in the day.

No One Will Go Hungry.

Declaring that there had been no discussion in debate of the distribution of surplus commodities, Wiley asserted "no one will go hungry" if the appropriation is not raised to $150,000,000. He said $66,000,000 in commodities would have been distributed by July 1.

Other developments of the day in Washington:

Rep. Rayburn of Texas, house democratic leader, was asked after a conference of congressional leaders with President Roosevelt whether important decisions had been reached. Rayburn replied that the President would tell about them at his press conference this afternoon.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh advised the House Foreign Affairs committee he would communicate with the committee immediately upon his arrival in this country. The committee had asked him to testify.

Before the relief debate was resumed in the senate, that body's leaders predicted the proposed increase would be rejected.

Democratic Leader Barkley and other administration lieutenants agreed on the $100,000,000 appropriation—the sum approved by the house—after it became apparent the senate appropriations committee might recommend less than that.

Thus, any statement from the resident might prove embarrassing to his senate chieftains.

The senate had agreed to vote yesterday afternoon, but adjourned out of respect to Senator J. Hamilton Lewis (D-Ill), who died Sunday night.

House WPA Probe.

Across the capitol, a house appropriations subcommittee was called together to chart plans for an intensive investigation of the WPA. Col. F. C. Harrington, the relief administrator, was asked to testify at the closed meeting.

The committee is expected to give the WPA a thorough goingovr before considering relief funds for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The appropriations before the senate will supplement funds to operate WPA until June 30.

The house has arranged to dispose of two controversial measures this week. One would increase from $3,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 the amount of mortgages the Federal Housing Administration may insure. The other would extend for two years the treasury's $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, its authority to buy newly-mined domestic silver above world prices, and the president's authority to revalue the dollar.

Meanwhile house leaders carried word to Mr. Roosevelt that the house would be in shape for quick adjournment of congress any time after May 15.

President Meets Leaders.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt had an opportunity today to discuss legislative problems with democratic congressional leaders.

For the first time since his return yesterday from a vacation at Warm Springs, Ga., the President conferred with Vice President Garner, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the democratic senate leader; Speaker Bankhead of the house, and Representative Rayburn of Texas, the democratic house leader.

Rayburn was asked by reporters afterwards whether neutrality legislation had been stressed.

"We went over everything," he replied. Asked whether any important decisions had been reached, Rayburn said the president would tell about them at his press conference later in the day.

The conference occurred a short time before the senate met to vote on the $100,000,000 relief bill placed before that chamber in response to the Chief Executive's request for an additional $150,000,000 to financ the WPA until July 1.

President to Attend Funeral.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will attend the state funeral tomorrow for Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, a presidential secretary said today.

It had been announced previously that Mr. Roosevelt would not attend. No explanation of the change in plans was given.

Offered FBI Place.

More Cattle On Feed Corn States Than Last Year

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department estimated today the number of cattle on feed for market in the 11 corn belt states April 1 was about 13 per cent larger than a year earlier—an increase equivalent to about 160,000 head.

The number was said, however, to be still below the pre-brought period.

Largest gains were in South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, and Missouri. Moderate increases in the eastern corn belt brought the number in those states to the highest level for the past 10 years, the department said.

Texas Made Goat In Reducing of Cotton Roosevelt Declares

DALLAS, April 13.—(AP)—Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, told the Texas Cotton Ginners association convention here acreage reduction programs "have pretty well taken care of the eastern section of the cotton belt to the detriment of Texas."

He joined other convention speakers yesterday in a plea for a fair chance for Texas cotton in the markets of the nation and abroad.

He said "in the five year period from 1933 to 1937, Texas—which has produced some one-third of the nation's cotton—bore the brunt of the reduction to the extent of 60.96 per cent of its total crop. Contrast that to the eastern area's reduction of only 11.95 per cent."

HOUSE SUBSTITUTED OWN BILL FOR ONE PASSED BY SENATE

WOULD IMPOSE GROSS RECEIPTS TAX RANGING UP TO ONE PER CENT

AUSTIN, April 11.—(AP)—The house today expressed overwhelming preference for a gross receipts tax instead of a two per cent general sales levy.

By a vote of 86 to 46, it substituted a gross receipts tax ranging up to one per cent on retailers for the sales impost contained in a bill by Rep. E. R. Wright of Huntsville. Whether it would reach a final vote on the bill later today was uncertain.

The senate yesterday had sent the lower chamber a proposed constitutional amendment calling for a 2 per cent sales and service tax and a 25 per cent boost in natural resources levies.

This was the first day the house had had opportunity to consider a bill instead of a proposed constitutional change. Both the Wright bill and the substitute contained increases of 33 1-3 per cent in the natural resources levies.

The gross receipts tax would be one per cent on retailers, one-fourth of one per cent on wholesalers and one-tenth of one per cent on money lenders. The first $25,000 or annual business would be exempted from the levy.

Wants Exemption Removed.

Rep. Abe Mays of Atlanta, an independent grocer, argued in vain that if the tax was imposed the $25,000 exemption should be removed. He said larger businesses now had to pay unemployment insurance levies from which small establishments were exempt.

Rep. G. C. Morris of Greenville, unyielding foe of the sales tax, called the gross receipts levy "as fair a compromise as we can hope for."

"One particularly good feature," said Morris, "is levy of one-tenth of one per cent on the gross income of local companies."

The substitute was by Rep. Ross Hardin of Prairie Hill.

When the original bill first came up for floor discussion, its author, Representative Wright, argued responsibility of liberalizing pensions and obtaining the needed revenue on the legislature not the people.

"We should forget our political standing and do the thing the people have asked us to do," he said.

The Huntsville lawmaker stated that proposed constitutional amendments "put a limit on the amount of money that can be taken from the vast natural resources" and a bill therefore would be preferable.

Both Need More Money.

When Rep. Henry Hull of Fort Worth pointed out that under a bill one-fourth of the revenue had to go to the school fund, Wright replied that the schools as well as the old people needed more money.

Wright appealed to his colleagues to cut debate short and send some sort of a bill to the senate.

"If we of the present legislature don't take care of the old folks," he warned, "There will be many new members of the next legislature."

Before debate started on the Wright measure, a resolution which would put the house on record as favoring substantially higher natural resources tax in preference to a sales tax was introduced and referred without discussion to the state affairs committee.

When the house recessed for lunch, a proposal to substitute an omnibus tax bill for the gross receipts levy was pending.

The omnibus proposal would impose new or increased taxes on cigarettes, beer and soft drinks motor trucks, stick exchange deals, motion picture film royalties, billboard advertising, gifs, inheritances, gravel, sand, shell crushed rock, clay, gypsum, asphalt, salt and many other objects.

Pension Bill Back In House Tuesday

AUSTIN, April 11.—(AP)—Pension hopes for the old folks stood shakily in the house af representatives today, tossed there by the senate and likly to be juggled until waning days of the session.

No signs of weakening came from either of the house blocs, one unalterably opposed to submitting the revenue raising question to the people and the other just as strong for it.

Foes of the referendum plan went to bat today, the house voting late yesterday to allow Rep. E. R Wright to bring to the floor his statutory bill that would enable the legislature to vote a two per cent sales-service tax with increased natural resource levies.

The senate yesterday voted by the barest margin a constitutional amendment that levies two per cent sales and service imposts; 25 per cent increases in present levies on natural rsources. It would raise an estimated $35,000,000 with a maximum $20,000,000 earmarked for pensions; $6,500,000 for other security purposes and the remainder for the available school fund. The latter would tend to lower property taxes.

The house constitutional amendments committee met a few hours after passage of the amendment by the senate and expressed open disagreement on several of its clauses.

To Alter Senate Bill.

A sub-committee of three was named to alter the senate bill and report back Wednesday night. Efforts to have beer and liquor sales excluded from the list of taxable items on the grounds taxes were already being paid failed in the house committee. The committee did adopt an amendment however, to exempt the producer-distributor of dairy products on first sales.

Thus, the plan endorsed by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel to pay the old folks stood one up and one to go today—past the senate but due for rough days in a house that only two weeks ago rose up and chilled a similar amendment. The senate amendment, among other things, slaps a two per cent tax on all retail sales above four cents; phone, light and gas bills; theater and sports events whose admissions are more than 25 cents; all tourist camp room rent; club service to members and fees of commossion merchants. Natural resources would be hiked 25 per cent.

Would Be No Tokens.

Exemptions would include first sale by the producer of agriculture, garden, dairy and orchard products, livestock and poultry; Isolated sales of property and sales of gasoline and cigarettes.

There would be no tokens.

The payment plan is liberal, providing pensions for all whose net incomes does not hit $30 monthly.

Meanwhile, the house engrossed but did not finally pass, the strict land vacancy law authorized by Rep. Paris Smith and Price Daniel. An attempt to suspend the constitutional rules and get a vote on third reading and final passage fell a few votes short of the needed two-thirds majority yesterday.

Rewritten and amended the suit the school interests, who, in a telegram to the authors said the bill would not meet their opposition, the bill as it stands would provide trial of vacancy suits in the county where the land lies; allow the land-owner using or occupying the land in good faith a preferential right to purchase from the state; raise the filing fee from $1 to $100 on vacancy applications; provide for the land commissioner to appoint a disinterested surveyor give the state 1-16 royalty on vacancies sold, 1-8 royalty on vacancies leased and provide that land within five miles of an oil and gas well should be subject to lease, not to sale, unless there is a good faith claimant electing to purchase.

Fair Trades Practice Act.

AUSTIN, April 11.—(AP)—One step, the one that defeated it two years ago, today stood between the fair trade practice act and its place in the statute books of Texas—action by the senate.

The senate's commerce and manufacturing committee last night gave the bil da favorable report, 4 to 0. The bill passed the house two weeks ago, as it did two years ago but at that time it never reached a vote in the senate.

The bill, introduced by Rep. R. Reader of San Antonio, permits a retailer to make a contract with a manufacturer of a trade-marked article that he will not sell the article below the manufacturer's stipulated and advertised price.

AUSTIN, April 11.—(AP)—Lieut.-Gov. Coke Stevenson of Junction, a conservationist-sportsman, today broke a senate tie vote, sending to the house a bill requiring universal hunting and fishing licenses for Texans.

It requires a $2 annual fishing license except when angling in the county of residence or an property owned by the fisherman in another county.

The $2 hunting permit is applicable to all nimrods, except when they ply their sport on their own land.

Persons under 17 years of age, however, are exempt from both levies and fishermen may obtain a 3-day permit costing 50 cents if they do not wish an annual permit.

The bill delegates to the game, fish and oyster commission authority to promulgate after hearings open and closed season on game and fish and other orders for the protection, propagation and conservation of game and fish.

It also reduces from $5 to $2 the license required of operators of shooting preserves and slices from 10 percent to 5 percent the portion of rental income due the state. Operators also would be given authority to enforce game laws on their preserves but could not collect fees for convictions.

Would Bar Pool Tables

AUSTIN, April 11.—(AP)—Rotund Abe Mays, one-time Texas league pitcher, failed in his efforts last night to get house colleanges to regulate and license billiard parlors—a move he claimed would enrich the state by $1,500,000 annually. Rep. Mays, of Atlanta, proposed to license parlors and tax them $4 per table monthly. He estimated there are 30,000 billiard tables in Texas.

He would have allocated 1-2 of the revenue for the old age pension fund, 1-4 for the available school fund and 1-4 for the teachers' retirement fund. He would not allow gambling, drinking, or monors in the billiard parlors and would require operators to have lived in Texas at least two years.

Also, Mays would do away with the name "pool hall" and call them billiard parlors. He figured 30,000 persons would be employed and $18,000,000 would be invested with a huge building program to result from his clause that would require all parlors to be open and clear view.

The house turned it down on engrossment, 63 to 59.

NO IMMEDIATE RETIREMENT FOR CHIEF JUSTICE HUGHES HE SAYS ON SEVENTY-SEVENTH BIRTHDAY

WASHINGON, April 11.—(AP)—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes said today on his 77th birthday anniversary that he expects to continue his work as presiding officer of the supreme court.

He made the statement through his secretary, adding that he was happy to be able to resume his duties after an attack of grippe.

The chief justice, who sas presided over the court during one of the most turbulent periods in its history, became ill March 4.

He expects to return to the bench when the court reassembles Monday after a two-weeks' recess.

This was the first time he had missed a day from work because of illness since his appointment by President Hoover in 1930 to succeed Chief Justice William Howard Taft.

Birthday anniversaries always are disregarded as war as possible by Mr. Hughes.

His philosophy on the subject of age was given in a birthday statement three years ago when he said:

"I'm going along without reference to the calendar."

Mr. Hughes although exceeded in age only by Justice James C. McReynolds, who is two months older, continues to set the working pace for the court members.

During the term that began last October the chief justice has written 18 opinions, compared with 16 for Justice Stone, 14 for Justice Roberts, 13 for Justice Black, and 12 for Justice McReynolds.

Mr. Hughes has not dissented once during the present term or the 1937-38 term. This means he was on the winning side in every case decided.

During the crucial period covering the court test of most of the New Deal litigation, Chief Justice Hughes voted in favor of administration legislation 18 times and against it nine times. The only public part he took in the congressional battle over the Roosevelt court bill was a letter that "an increase in the number" of justices x x x would not promote the efficiency of the court."

RICHARD WHITNEY, SCION OF WEALTH AND PROMINENCE, HAS STARTED SECOND PRISON YEAR

OSSINING, N. Y., April 12.—(AP)—Apparently adjusted to a routine strange to his background, Richard Whitney, fallen financier, started today his second year in Sing Sing prison.

The one-time head of the New York stock exchange whose brokerage house went to the wall in a spectacular collapse in March, 1938, went quietly about his duties as clerk in the chief keeper's office. Prison officials described him as healthy, cheerful and 16 pounds heavier than when he was admitted.

Whitney, Convict 94835, wen sentenced to from five to 10 years in prison for grand larceny after he pleaded guilty to stealing funds entrusted to him by the New York Yacht Club and members of his family. His minimum term, under the probation laws is three years and four months.

Fellow-prisoners who were inclined to regard him as a visiting celebrity at first now take him for granted. Guards reported that his relations with other convicts were cordial and that he was having "no trouble."

Whitey's job at the moment is to keep the tally count on prisoners five times a day, an important job in prison administration.

Whitney has had few visitors during the year he has been here. Several lawyers visited him from time to time when he first came. His brother, George, a A. P. Morgan partner, has visited him twice.

His wife has been a visitor almost every week.

ROOSEVELT REMARKS ARE CHARACTERIZED BEING IMPERTINENT

NAZI LABOR LEADER SAYS IF ENGLAND WANTS WAR GERMANY READY

BERLIN, April 12.—(AP)—Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' newspaper Der Angriff today characterized as "impertinence" President Roosevelt's "I'll be back in the fall if we don't have a war," farewell to friends in Warm Springs, Ga., Sunday.

The newspaper said the president's remark was "coarse barking up the wrong tree and impertinence."

The newspaper published statements attributed to the president with banner lines and used the whole front page, with the exception of the short daily editorial, for five news stories from the United States, three of them concerning Roosevelt.

Robert Ley, leader of the Nazi labor front, declared today "if England wants a new war against Germany she will no longer find the old world order nor the torn Germany of 1914."

The statement was contained in a set of Nazi principles addressed to German workers. It was issued as Adolf Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter ridiculed Britain and France for "panic mongering out weakness" and an informed Nazi source represented Hitler as determined to do nothing in the next few months to provoke the two countries to armed intervention.

Ley listed various German complaints against Britain, including loss of the Reich's 1,000,000 square mile colonial empire in the world war peace, terms of the Versailles treaty and war-time British blockage against Germany.

Hates Because Fears

He complained about the "dubious methods" with which England gathered her empire and said Britain was "a newly rich parvenu - - - who would like to play world policeman."

"England hates us because she fears us," he added. "She hates us because we see through her."

Hitler's newspaper pictured the two western European democracies as using "brutality" in getting Greece to side with the allied powers during the world war.

Denouncing Britain's world war action against Greece as an "unparalleled extortion," the Fuehrer's mouthpiece remarked, "it can hardly be doubted that England's new role of protector toward Greece emnanated from the same instincts of assault."

The well-informed Nazi source represented Chancellor Hitler as being convinced Great Britain and France might decide this year was the best for challenging Germany and Italy.

The informant said highly placed Germans suddenly have become convinced that their problem now is one of preventing trouble from arising as long as possible.

YOUNG WIDOW OF BANDIT DICKSON TELLS OF DEATH

WAIVES EXTRADITION TO NORTH DAKOTA FOR BANK ROBBERY TRIAL

KANSAS CITY, April 11.—(AP)—Stella Mae Dickson, 16-year-old Topeka, Kas., girl, told today how her desperado husband, Benny, was shot to death by federal agents on a St. Louis sidewalk.

Benny, 27, and Stella Mae, who shot their way out of a police trap at Topeka last November, had been sought on charges of bank robbery and kidnaping. Benny was killed Thursday night. Stella Mae was arrested here Saturday and has waived removal to South Dakota for trial on bank robbery charges.

"We had been living in New Orleans," Stella Mae said, "and Johnny had to go to St. Louis to see a friend."

Stella Mae always calls her husband Johnny because he went under the name Johnny O'Malley when he first met her while she was a Topeka junior high school student three years ago.

"We drove to a hamburger stand and parked across the street. I sat in the car and he went in.

"A few minutes later I saw a man down the street wave his arm. I didn't think anything about it at the time. I couldn't see the hamburger stand very well because of cars parked in front of it.

Heard Shots Fired

"I heard several shots fired across the street. I already had the motor running, and I swung the car around to get on Johnny's side of the street and opened the car door as I turned.

"He was lying on the sidewalk."

Asked whether she knew the "woman in brown" supposed to have tipped off the G-men Dickson was in St. Louis, she said:

"I think I know who she is, but I don't want to say who. I hope the reward money she may get will justify her feeling for having a man's life taken."

Stella Mae laughed off stories about her prowess with a revolver.

"I never shot a revolver in my life," she said, "but I'm an expert with a rifle."

The couple fled to Michigan, then to Minnesota after dodging 48 bullets in Topeka. From Minnesota, Stella Mae said, they went to New Orleans and rented rooms two blocks from Tulane university.

Tried Enter Tulane

Dickson tried to enter Tulane but found the fees too high. He wanted to study journalism, Stella Mae said, and spent many hours writing "stuff."

Dickson worked as a salesman for a uniform concern in New Orleans and pieced out his income with money he told her came from the estate of his grandmother.

A few days before they went to St. Louis they moved to Baton Rouge, La., where Stella Mae said Dickson enrolled in Louisiana State university journalism school.

Stella Mae denied taking part in any of the bank robberies or the kidnaping of which the couple was accused. She pointed out that the woman in all the holdups had been described as blond.

"Just two days before we left Topeka," she said, "I had my hair dyed brown, and it's been brown ever since."

Discounts School Entry.

BATON ROUGE, La., April 11.—(AP)—M. G. Osborn, director of the Louisiana State University School of Journalism, today discounted the story told at Kansas City by Stella Mae Dickson, 16, that her desperado husband, Benny, enrolled recently in the L. S. U. journalism school.

Benny, 27, sought on bank robbery and kidnap charges, was shot to death by federal agents last Thursday. His wife, taken into custody Saturday, said Dickson attempted to enroll at Tulane University at New Orleans but found the fees too high, then enrolled at L. S. U. to develop his inclination for writing.

Osborn said no one by the name of Dickson or O'Malley, Dickson's alias, registered in the journalism school here.

He discounted the possibility the bandit may have registered under another name.

NEEDY PEOPLE OF CITY AND COUNTY RECEIVED RELIEF

COMMODITIES AND CASH OF OVER $75,000 VALUE FROM FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

Needy people of Corsicana and Navarro county during 1938 received aid in excess of $75,000 from surplus commodities and from salaries of boys and men sent to CCC camps, according to figures released by A. B. McBroom, who is connected with the local relief agency of the Texas relief commission. The above figure does not include a large amount of factory-made clothing purchased by the Surplus Commodity Corporation and distributed here.

Among the foodstuffs distributed were dried apples, dried apricots, lima beans, fresh butter, cabbage, corn meal, eggs, wheat flour, graham flour, grapefruit juice, fresh oranges, fresh pears, canned peas, dried peas, potatoes, prunes, rice grits, raisins, shortening, syrup and canned vegetables. The approximate value of these foodstuffs was placed at $20,686.

Sewing room projects located at Corsicana, Kerens, Dawson and Blooming Grove manufactured clothing to be distributed. A total of 49,125 garments was made with a value of $28,512. In addition to the garments made in Navarro county, a large amount of factory-made clothing was sent here for distribution by the Federal Surplus Commodity Corporation.

Mrs. A. R. McCrary and Mrs. J. D. Robinson, local case workers, supervised the distribution of the clothing.

A total of 109 boys were enrolled in CCC camps during 1938 from Navarro county, sending a monthly allotment of $2,376 home for a total for the year of $26,412.

There are 95 Navarro county boys in CCC camps at the present time, sending $22 per month to their families.

AN OLD STORY OF PROPAGANDA AND OF THE MEN BEHIND IT *

Mobs and Stonings Could Not Deter the Adventurous Paul — Glimpses of the Present Scenes of His Achievements — Wanted: Heroes of Faith.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Some readers of these lines will one day travel to the Near East; and will go, by luxurious trains now running, across the uplands of Turkey, from Istanbul to Aleppo. If they are Bible wise, they will stop off at Konia, the ancient Iconium, and make an automobile tour of the ruins of Pisidian Antioch, Lystra and Derbe, the scenes of the present Lesson.

Konia is the great railway center of Turkey. It bulked large in the plans of the Germans, with their Berlin-to-Bagdad railway project. They built the largest hotel in mid-Turkey there, now gone to seed. In the city are fine remains of Saracenic art, and the great headquarters of the now abolished dervishes. The mountains, with names recalling Paul, are superb.

An American Woman in Iconium

One of the most romantic stories of the world war was staged at Iconim, where there was a fine American hospital; staffed by Dr. Dodd and Dr. Post and Miss Cushman. They were ordered out by the Turks at the beginning of the war, but Miss Cushman refused to go. Konia was a center for prisoners of war and for refugees, and the need was appalling.

Miss Cushman had secret communication with Ambassador Morgenthau, who promised to make good any checks she should draw. That lone woman became the representative of seventeen allied and neutral nations; feeding the hungry by the thousands, making life tolerable for the British prisoners, mothering the orphans, supervising the care of the sick, and burying the dead. The magnitude and variety of her work staggers the imagination. She wrote out on her typewriter checks for more than a million dollars, all of which were honored. Then, after the war, instead of returning home to receive the acclaim of the world, she carried on, caring for thousands of orphans, and died a victim of her labors.

A Place of Great Names

Many famuos names are associated with Iconium, one of the oldest cities in the world; but none shine so bright as those of the Apostle Paul and Miss Cushman, two of a kind. Their labors make this now prosperous all-Turkish city a shrine for the world's Christians.

On Paul's first missionary journey, with Barnabas, he had preached successfully at Antioch in Pisidia—which is not to be confused with Antioch in Syria. Many believed; but the Jews stirred up a mob and cast the missionaries out. Curiously, and significantly, the narrative of this incident reads, "And the disciples were filled with joy, and with the Holy Ghost." No defeatism there. As Paul later wrote, they "gloried in tribulation." Of stern stuff were the pioneers of Christianity; have we, their successors, grown soft?

So on to Iconium went the heroic pair. They were making a deep dent in paganism, and they knew it. What if Antioch cast them out? There was Iconium to evangelize. The fortunes of the worker mattered little, so long as the work was carried on. Beyond Iconium lay Lystra and Derbe, and countless other centers. Long time they labored in Iconium, speaking with dauntless boldness. But the crafty forces again stirred up the rabble, and the two men were stoned out of the city.

A Study in Propaganda

Ours is a propaganda era—what Paul would have done with the printing press and the radio! —and it is of interest to study the Pauline propaganda in Asia Minor and Europe. They were only two lone men, with a story to tell. Tirelessly they told it, using every means of approach to the people. As good Jews, they availed themselves of synagogue privileges. But they also spoke on the streets, and to individuals. As they became known, their very presence was an advertisement of their Message. There is power in the personality that is regarded first of all as Christian.

Naturally, foes and counter-propaganda developed. The two men did not mind: this very opposition increased public interest in the great Story they told. They themselves were roughly handled; but God's man is less concerned in his personal welfare than for God's cause. Even by the missionaries' sufferings the Gospel was circulated. In Iconium they remained a long time, despite persecution. Wherever they went, whatever they did, only heightened public interest in the Christ whom they proclaimed.

When they went to Lystra—today a miserable, malarial village, its mud huts using classical marbles for door-sills, and ancient marble sarcophagi for drinking troughs—Paul and Barnabas were at first acclaimed as gods; and then mobbed and left for dead. How petty seem the criticisms which often make modern Christians cease from their labors, when we consider the experiences of these first Christian propagandists. Nothing could halt the work to which they had given their lives. Imagine a Paul loose in our town! How the Sunday Schools would grow, and church attendance increase, and catty gossip cease, and peace and good will would transform the whole social atmosphere. Well, why is not all this possible to a modern Paul—perhaps a young person seeking a "career"? We have the same Message as Paul, with almost none of his handicaps.

Honors Declined

Some of us are puffed up when a new recognition or honor comes to us. Not so these doughty pioneers in propagandizing a great cause. At Lystra they were hailed as reincarnations of the old gods, Jupiter and Mercury, and the priests and people tried to garland them with flowers, and sacrifice oxen before them.

Thereupon we see the steady calm of Paul and Barnabas, with which they had met all attempt to lynch them, break down. They grew excited, and rent their garments, and moved vigorously amongst the people, protesting and disclaiming. They were shocked at the attempt to pay them honors which belonged only to their Christ. When they had quieted the mob that sought to deify them, they at once began to preach their Message.

Hurrahs are easily urned into hoots. It was not long before the fickle Lystrains, incited by the Jews, turned against the strangers and stoned them, dragging the body of Paul out of the city and leaving it for dead. But he was not dead; and soon he was on the road again, returning to the cities that had mobbed him, and organizing churches. Peerless Paul! Matchless missionary!

adopt a more aggressive foreign trade policy. Two reasons for such a policy were advanced: First, to reduce surpluses and regain declining foreign markets, and second, to meet growing competition of the totalitarian countries.

It was said in authoritative quarters the President had taken the view that if the United States did not adopt measures to hold its "normal share" of world trade, the totalitarian states might benefit economically and thereby be put in a position to strengthen themselves in a military way.

Officials said administration leaders considered the subsidy program a more powerful weapon for disposing of surpluses than the proposal to exchange cotton and wheat to other countries for such strategic war materials as rubber and tin.

"The bill was unanimously reported (by the subcommittee) to the full committee three years ago and that committee reported it favorably to the senate. Action was not had because of the imminence of adjournment.

"The war profits bill provides for the drafting of industrial plants and factories and munitions and supplies. It musters money as well as men. It calls to the colors a vast industrial army as well as the manhood of America. It announces the policy that dollars shall not be more sacred than human life."

POLAND

As a counterblast to continued propaganda in German and Polish languages from the German Ostbund, an organization devoted to the interests of Germans in Eastern Europe, especially Poland, the Polish western union, which performs a similar function for Poles in Germany, announced a campaign beginning April 15 to enlist increased support for its activities.

Official quarters said they saw "obvious public maneuvers" by Germany to bluff Poland into neutrality.

Albanian Queen Is Seriously Ill In Greek Hospital

LARISSA, Greece, April 11.—(AP)—Albania's Queen Geraldine, seriously ill, was removed to a hospital here today from a private villa where she took refuge after flight from her Italian invaded capital, Tirana.

Her six-day old son, wth whom she fled Tiana last Friday, was said to be in good health.

The beautiful young queen, of American-Hungarian parentage, was running a high temperature a sa result of the strain and shock from her trip over rough highways by ambulance from Tirana.

Expert medical aid was summoned.

King Zog was with her and the child, now six days old.

fronted with a divergence of testimony" in the Italian and Albanian accounts

After being loudly cheered, Chamberlain began "I was satisfied that it was in the interests of the country that the house should meet this afternoon in view of events in the Mediterranean."

Widespread Uneasiness.

In a resume of recent European events, Chamberlain said they had created "widespread uneasiness and disquiet especially in the eastern Mediterranean."

Discussing Italy's occupation of Albania last week he said "when we come to examine the background of the events, we are confronted with a divergence of testimony."

Chamberlain, recalling Italian contentions, said Rome claimed "King Zog became hostile and they (Italy) must protect their interests."

The Duke of Kent was among those listening to the prime minister.

The Soviet ambassador, Ivan Maisky was two seats away.

Chamberlain said:

"The Albanian minister reported to Lord Halifax (the British foreign secretary) soon after the Italian invasion that the Albanians had rejected an untimatum delivered to them by Italy. The Albanian minister appealed to the British government to do their utmost in the aid of small nations which was desperately trying to defend its own territory."

Chamberlain added: "Rightly or wrongly the stories of the oppression of Italians et cetera are regarded with doubt and suspicion."

Imposed Will

Chamberlain said, amid cheers, that "whatever their faith, whether Christian or Moslem, it must be apparent that a powerful nation has imposed its will on a small, relatively defenseless country and has done so by an imposing show of armed force."

The prime minister continued: "We must ask ourselves whether the proceedings in Albania were in conformity with the Anglo-Italian agreement of last April."

He then quoted a passage of the agreement relating to "peace and security" in the Mediterranean.

Italy's action, Chamberlain said: "Must inevitably be the cause of further uneasiness and increased international tension.

Chamberlain said: "The Adriatic is certainly a part of the Mediterranean area and the Italian government could not, therefore, claim that the British government was not concerned."

He disclosed the British ambassador to Rome, the Earl of Perth, had reminded the Italian government "the situation might raise in acute form the whole question of the status quo in the Mediterranean."

All Support in Power

Chamberlain said: "The British government will lend to Greece or Rumania, if their independence is threatened, all the support in their power."

Chamberlain refused to denounce the Anglo-Italian agreement, asserting it "has been justified and should not at this moment be ended."

Chamberlain continued: I, therefore, take this opportunity of saying the government attach the greatest importance to the avoidance of distubance by force, or fears of force, of the status quo in the Mediterranean and the Balkan peninsula."

He said France concurred in the British pledge of support against aggression to Greece and Rumania.

At the same time Chamberlain was speaking, Viscount Halifax, the foreign secretary, opened a foreign affairs debate in the house of lords.

He said: "No one act in this business could have more effectively shocked religious sentiment everywhere than the fact that it should have been initiated on the day which to most Christians was the most sacred of the year Good Friday)."

Withdrawal From Spain

Chamberlain said in the house: "The government have taken due note of the assurances given for the withdrawal of Italian troops in Spain after the victory march in Madrid."

Chamberlain said Italy had told London the future of Albania "depended on the wishes of the Alybanian people," referring to what was described as an Albanian offer of their crown to the king of Italy.

The prime minister observed that "we await the answer of the Italian government to this offer."

The house laughed.

Expressing a desire for good relations with Italy, Chamberlain said "it is to the Italian government that I look for partial evidence that they share my desire."

Chamberlain was interrupted by opposition shouts of "what about Russia?" and "Deal with Russia!"

"We are keeping in the closest touch with the representatives of Soviet Russia."

Lord Halifax disclosed to the Lords that Italy had questionel Britain, through Charge d'Affaires Guido Crolla, concerning reports she planned to send warships to make a "symbolical" occupation of Corfu, Greek island in the Adriatic off the southern tip of Albania.

The foreign secretary said he assured Crolla "that was not the sort of thing we did but the British government would certainly take a very grave view if anybody else occupied it."

Fascist Grand Council

ROME, April 13.—(AP)—A session of the fascist grand council was called for tonight (3 p. m. CST) under leadership of Premier Mussolini to approve "union" of Albania and Italy.

A request that the two countries be united under the sovereignty of the Italian king, Vittorio Emanuele, came from the Albanian constituent assembly five days after Italian invasion of the 10,629-square-mile Balkan kingdom just across the Adriatic.

The Albanian request was formulated yesterday in Tirana with Mussolini's son-in-law and foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, in attendance.

It was assumed to be in accord with Il Duce's desires, and Italian acceptance was taken as a foregone conclusion.

Announcement Unnecessary.

ROME, April 13.—(AP)—Fascists regarded Prime Minister Chamberlain's announcement of Anglo-French guarantees to Greece and Rumania today as "unnecessary and gratuitious" because, they said, the independence of neither of these powers had been threatened.

They called attention especially to the fact that Premier Mussolini had given assurances on Monday to Greece that Italy had no hostile designs toward her and that the Greek government had accepted those assurances.

So far as Albania was concerned, fascists argued her occupation was not a threat to the Mediterranean status quo. They insisted that although "a personal union" had been achieved between the two countries by Albania's offer of the crown to the Italian king, Albania would continue to enjoy the same degree of sovereignty as she enjoyed heretofore.

Promises Welcomed Heartily.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 13.—(AP)—Officials said today they "welcomed heartily" assurance of Anglo-French support for Rumania given by Prime Minister Chamberlain in London.

There was no formal statement from the foreign office, officials still being occupied with study of Chamberlain's exact words.

Warships at Alexandria.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, April 13.—(AP)—The 5,220-ton British cruiser Arethusa with five destroyers arrived here today to participate in coastal defense maneuvers with British land air air forces.

The maneuvers originally planned for April 22 had been advanced to today.

Goering Going to Rome.

ROME, April 13.—(AP)—Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, No. 2 Nazi, will arrive here tomorrow night for "an official visit' which will extend through Sunday.

Goering, who had been in Italy a month on a vacation before going to Libya, was expected to see Premier Mussolini.

TWO OPENING GAMES SCHEDULED SUNDAY CORSICANA FIELDS

ALL-STAR BENEFIT ATTRACTION PROVIDED FOR SUNDAY, JULY SECOND

Ten baseball clubs of Navarro, Limestone and Freestone counties will open the 1939 season of the Navarro county baseball league Sunday afternoon, it was decided at a meeting of officials and managers at the Y.M.C.A. Wednesday evening. The league is sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. and this will be the third campaign. Fred O. Hodgden is president. The officials also decided to play an all-star game Sunday, July 2, on the Magnolia diamond here, with the proceeds to be split among the league teams to help with the financing of the clubs. The championship game will be played about Sept. 10.

The northern all-stars of 20 players for the July 2 game will be recruited from Bazette, Montfort, Emhouse, Corsicana Cotton Mill and Roane. The other club, of Southern all-stars, will be secured from Magnolia, Dr. Pepper, Mexia, Wortham and Currie.

Montfort Defending Champ

Montfort is the defending champion.

The five contests scehduled for Sunday, the opening day, are:

Corsicana Cotton Mills at Mexia.

Bazette at Wortham.

Currie at Roane.

Emhouse vs. Dr. Pepper at Corsicana Mill diamond.

Montfort vs. Magnolia at Magnolia field.

C. F. Broughton, physical director of the Y.M.C.A. is secretary-statistician of the league.

Officials will announce the remainder of the schedule after the opening contests. This announcement is expected to be made within the next few days.

Courthouse News

District Court.

District Judge Wayne R. Howell Thursday morning denied the writ of habeas corpus filed by Garland Anderson and remanded Anderson to jail. Notice of appeal was given by the defendant who conducted his own case and bond pending appeal was set.

Anderson was convicted in justice court at Kerens on an intoxication charge and was fined $1 and costs. The case was appealed to the county court where a jury assessed a penalty of $25 and costs. The case was appealed to the court of criminal appeals at Austin. This court reversed the case but later dismissed when certain portions of the record were included. The mandate recently was received here and then the habeas corpus writ was filed in the district court.

The grand jury resumed its investigations Thursday morning after a week's recess.

Probate Court.

The will of Mattie D. Steele, deceased, was filed for probate Wednesday.

Two negroes were arrested and placed in jail Wednesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff eGorge T. Brown near Dawson in connection with the alleged theft of gas, oil, etc., at the farm of Joe eKitt. No charges had been filed early Thursday morning.

Justice Court.

A man charged with intoxication was acquitted by a jury in Judge Pat Geraught's court Wednesday afternoon.

Amarillo Family Of Four Is Found Slain In Home

AMARILLO, April 12.—(AP)—Harold C. Fowler, his wife and two small sons were found shot to death in their home here today. They had been dead several hours.

The bodies were found shortly after noon by police after Fowler's office had reported he was missing. Fowler was connected with the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Federal government.

Each member of the family was shot in the head. Officers said Mrs. Fowler was shot in the back of the head. Fowler was shot in the temple. A small calibre pistor was in the room in which Fowler fell. The boys, 4 and 7, were in bed in the front sleeping room. Mrs. Fowler was in a rear bedroom and Fowler was sprawled on the floor near her bed.

Mrs. Fowler was adjudged insane in a county court here on March 31.

An inquest was ordered, but a verdict had not been given this afternoon.

The Fowlers had lived here since 1936. They came here from Fort Collins, Colo., where Fowler was connected with the state land planning office. Fowlers' family lives at Fort Collins.

Fowler was 34 years old.

County Judge J. N. Riggs, who was on the bench during Mrs. Fowler's sanity trial, said Fowler had telephoned him a few days ago and reported he had made plans to take Mrs. Fowler to a state hospital. Her condtiion was not of such nature to cause officers to keep her in custody, Judge Riggs said.

STRONG LYNX HAVE SEVEN CONTESTS FOR 1939 SEASON

CLASS AA OPPOSITION IS SOUGHT BY COACH BILL MAXWELL

Coach Bill Maxwell is seeking to arrange additional games for the I. O. O. F. Home Lynx football club for this fall. Seven engagements have been scheduled and one or two contests with AA clubs are desired.

Due to the rulings of the University of Texas Interscholastic league and the vote of certain members of the old district in which the Odd Fellows performed, the Lynx will not be in the University of Texas Interscholastic league this fall.

Due to the small enrollment in the institution, the team would be in the weak B divisions. The B circuits do not want the strong Odd Fellows. The district composed of State Home, Ferris, Ennis, Groesbeck and Teague, was where the Odd Fellows have played for the past several seasons. When formal application was made for admission to that circuit, Groesbeck and Teague are alleged to have blocked the entrance of the Lynx.

The Odd Fellows finished second in the district race last year to the State Home Lads and prospects are brighter for a fine club this season than during the past several campaigns. The Odd Fellows are the same classification as their opposition on any particular day, the coach has pointed out, and promises any team a contest on the gridiron.

The Schedule.

Sept. 15—Open.
Sept. 22—Ennis at Ennis, night.
Sept. 29—Open.

LINDBERGH TELLS COMMITTEE TO TALK UPON HIS ARRIVAL

HAD BEEN INVITED TESTIFY ON MATTER NEUTRALITY LEGISLATION

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, invited to testify before the house foreign affairs committee on neutrality legislation, radioed the committee today he would communicate with it directly upon his arrival in this country.

Acting Chairman Bloom (D-NY) commented:

"I guess we can expect to have the honor of having Colonel Lindbergh appear before the committee and arrangements will be made accordingly."

The committee, starting hearings on numerous proposals for altering the neutrality act or repealing it, heard congressmen explain bills they have introduced.

The first, Representative Guyer (R-Kas) urged approval of a measure which would bring to Washington representatives of the 63 nations which signed the Kellogg-Briand pact renouncing war.

Guyer said the nations should be called to renew their pledge because the "world just can't stand another world war."

He agreed that even if another conference of signatory nations were called, some countries still would violate the pact. But, he said, the parley would stimulate public opinion, "the strongest public institution there is, stronger than your constitution, stronger than your army and navy."

Kerens Women Work With Negro Children

KERENS, April 12.—(Spl.)—Some 45 colored youngsters enjoyed a rare treat Monday at 5:30 p. m., when Mrs. A. R. Carroll, Mrs. J. C. Spurger and Mrs E. K. Howell provided the dozens of colored Easter eggs and supervised a big hunt on the lawn of the colored Baptist church.

The three sponsors work with the colored boys and girls one afternoon and one night a week at their church. Mrs. Carroll and Mrs. Howell conduct a Bible study course at 5:30 each Monday, while Mrs. Spurger teaches the Sunday school lesson each Thursday night. The interest keeps high, and much good is being accomplished. Prior to the Easter egg hunt, a program of mixed choruses was given.

HEALTH, BEAUTY AND POISE

HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR PERSONALITY
By VERONICA DENGEL

TWO RECIPES FOR YOUR DIET

On the Menu for today's Housecleaning Diet, you will find 'Vegetable Chop Suey.' I am giving you the recipe for this dish, and I know you will find it unusually appetizing.

Veronica Dengel

Cut into fine pieces, enough Celery to make one cup; and slice very fine, enough onion to make one cup. Put this in a heavy pot without water, and allow to steam over a medium flame until tender—about four or five minutes. Then add about three tablespoonfuls fresh or canned bean sprouts, and a little concentrated meatless flavoring. Turn over in pot for a few moments, and serve. This will make enough for two people.

And perhaps I should also tell you about my method of preparing soaked Prunes. Served in this way they are more laxative in their effect, which is particularly important during a cleansing regime. Remember that when you are neutralizing body poisons, they must always be eliminated promptly through the natural channels. So if there are not two good eliminations each day, it would be well to take a laxative (your doctor will suggest an effective natural type), or he may prefer that you take a daily enema. Either method is beneficial, just so that there is no delay in getting rid of the waster material.

At night, after washing them thoroughly in several waters, place in a bowl ,and cover with boiling water. Allow to remain over night and serve with a little honey. Of course you will use the water in which the prunes have been soaked. They will need no cooking. This makes a very good breakfast fruit for your children, too.

FOURTH DAY
HOUSECLEANING DIET

IMPROVEMENT IS SHOWN IN WINTER WHEAT TEXAS AREA

AUSTIN, April 13.—(AP)—Considerable improvement in prospects for winter wheat in Texas, particularly in the northern portion of the Panhandle, were reported as of April 1 by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of agriculture, here today.

The bureau said fruit prospects also were generally favorable, early Irish potatoes were average and pasture condition somewhat below average.

Stocks of grain on farms were considerably above those of the same date last year and the bureau sighted a very good peach crop for the state.

Grapefruit production in Texas from the 1938 bloom was estimated by the bureau at 15,000,000 boxes and orange production at 2,600,000 boxes as compared with 11,800,000 boxes of grapefruit and 1,440,00 boxes of oranges produced in 1937.

John Torrio Is Sentenced Thirty Months in Prison

NEW YORK, April 12.—(AP)—John Torrio, former notorious Chicago underworld leader, was sentenced today to serve two and a half years in federal prison for income tax evasion. Judge John W. Clancy first sentenced Torrio to three years but reduced it by six months at the request of the U. S. Attorney.

Torrio pleaded guilty Monday to an indictment charging he evaded payment of $86,000 in income taxes.

Before Torrio, a former crony of Al Capone in the early and profitable days of prohibition, was sentenced, his counsel, Max D. Seuer made a 45-minute plea for leniency.

During the course of what was virtually a summation of the evidence adduced against his client, Steuer announced that the $100,000 cash bail which Torrio posted when he was arrested in 1936 had been conceded to the government.

Two of Torrio's co-defendants, William Slockbower, his brother-in-law, and James La Penna, an associate of Torrio's bootlegging days, also were sentenced. They changed their pleas Monday, following Torrio's example.

Slockbower was given a suspended sentence of one year and a day, and placed on probation for a year. La Penna was given nine months and placed on probation for five years.

Man Carries Wallet Seven Years Hoping Find Owner of $60

ENGLEWOOD, Tenn., April 13.—(AP)—Seven years ago James "Uncle Jim" Reynolds found a wallet containing $60 in currency.

Every day since he carried the wallet, hoping to find the owner.

Yesterday, with the wallet "plumb wore out," Reynolds, now 70, bought a new one. Into it he put the $60, of which he has spent not one penny.

TESTIMONY STARTED IN VIOLENCE TRIAL HOUSTON OFFICERS

EX-CAVALRYMAN INSISTED BEATEN WITH RUBBER HOSE AFTER ARREST

HOUSTON, April 13.—(AP)—Robert Lyons, 25, ex-cavalryman, testified today he was beaten with a rubber hose by M. M. Simpson, suspended detective captain, and L. D. Hooker, suspended detective, as Simpson went on trial on a charge he used violence to induce a confession from Lyons.

Hooker obtained a severance when the case was called today before County At Law Judge Frank Williford, Jr. The defense declined a jury and placed the case before the judge.

Conviction of the charge, the first indictment of its kind returned in Texas, could result in the officers being barred forever from holding office in this state.

Lyons testified he was arrested on suspicion of having stolen $35 in cash and a watch from his former roommate.

He said Captain Simpson and Detective Hooker questioned him about the theft and thretaened to beat a confession out of him.

The former cavalryman said Captain Simpson "struck me in the right eye and butted my head against the police station wall five or six times."

"Simpson called to someone to bring him a club, that he didn't want to break his fists on me," Lyons related. "Hooker jerked me into another office and I saw Captain Simpson coming at me with a rubber hose about a foot and a half long."

Lyons said Detective Hooker held him while Captain Simpson struck him on the back with the rubber hose.

The next day, he testified, he was released by police and no charge was filed against him.

WALL STREET LESS INTERESTED IN WAR SCARES OF EUROPE

QUIET RALLY OF ONE TO THREE POINTS, HOWEVER, FLATTENED OUT LATER

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP)—Wall Street shed fewer tears over Europe's troubles today and, while a quiet early stock market rally of 1 to 3 or more points flattened out at the close, sentiment generally leaned toward the buying side.

The list inclined to mark time at the start as traders studied the speech of Prime Minister Chamberlain before an emergency session of the house of commons. A mildly optimistic interpretation was placed on the address.

A brief purchasing flurry lifted prices substantially when the head of the British govenment left the door for peace open by neglecting to denounce the Anglo-Italian accord of 1938 despite the Mussolini Albanian coup.

Among the day's best stock performers—some eventually backed away—were Chrysler, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Phelps Dodge, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, J. C. Penney, United Fruit, Southern Railway, Great Northern and Texas Corp.

Steels turned downward at the finish, with U. S. Steel and Bethlehem losing support.

Modest advances were registeered in an active bond department. Commodities were steady.

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP)—Price gains running to more than a point brightened today's stock market.

After a quiet opening trading slackened further but, near the second hour, buying broadened.

Well in front were General Motors, Chrysler, Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, Montbomery Ward, Boeing, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Telephone, Consolidated Editon, Westinghouse, General Electric and Texas Corp.

While the market apparently had ears tuned mainly to European rumblings, domestic trade items were not entirely overlooked.

Noted was the Dun and Bradstreet summary of bank clearings for the week ended yesterday, which included a Good Friday holiday for banks in a number of states, disclosing an upturn over the same period a year ago of 9.6 per cent.

LOW TEMPERATURES AND LACK OF RAIN RETARDED RANGES

AUSTIN, April 13.—(AP)—Low temperatures and lack of rain brought slow growth of range feeds in Texas during March, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today.

Although precipitation improved in the latter part of the month in all districts except south Texas, the bureau said more rain was needed to insure good summer grazing. Range foods were reported poor in south Texas.

Cattle, the bureau said, were in about average flesh on April 1 but supplemental feeding had been more general than usual. Winter losses were light and a good calf crop was expected.

Slow growth of range food in the sheep and goat-raising areas of the state resulted in fairly heavy losses of early lambs and prospects were not favorable for a large percentage lamb crop this year.

The bureau predicted a 30-day delay in the peak of spring movement of grass-fat yearlings.

Due largely to drouthy conditions, goat shearing, which is nearly completed was lighter than last year.

Increased Volume Is Recovery Key Says New Leader

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—Edward J. Noble, who will be second in command of the commerce department, said today the way to business recovery was increasing the total volume of business.

In a press conference one day after President Roosevelt said he would ask congress to create the job of undersecretary of Commerce for him, Noble gave as his basic belief volume was the key to profits.

Larger volume of business, as he put it, leads to larger profits through distributing overhead costs over more salable items, and larger profits lead to larger private incomes, thence to higher tax revenues.

Secretary Hopkins said Noble will be "in a position to make distinct contributions to the department's efforts toward promoting recovery."

Meanwhile, Noble had resigned from the chairmanship of the civil aeronautics authority to serve at $1 a year as executive assistant to Hopkins.

The action was one of the first open moves by Hopkins to fulfil reports current since he left the leadership of the WPA that, in the role of Secretary of commerce he would seek conciliation between the administration and business.

Yates Funeral Be Held on Thursday

SAN ANGELO, April 13.—(AP)—Ira G. Yates will be returned today to the soil from which he once dug peanuts at 50 cents a day, and which finally yielded to him millions of barrels of oil that made him one of Texas' wealthiest men.

Funeral services will be held here at 5 p. m.

The 79-year-old erstwhile ranchman, peanut digger, butcher and mule trader who bartered a country store for a ranch which became the Yates oil field, died at Austin yesterday.

MEASURE PASSED BY SENATE DRASTICALLY CHANGED WEDNESDAY

PROVISION DIVIDING PENSIONERS INTO TWO CLASSES WAS ELIMINATED

AUSTIN, April 12.—(AP)—The house today drastically revised a senate bill proposing to pay pensions to every aged person with an income of less than $30 a month.

By a vote of 63 to 58, it struck out a provision which would have divided pensioners into two classes and given equal amounts to all members of a class.

Rep. Ross Hardin of Prairie Hill, the bill's author, estimated it would increase the pension rolls from their present 115,000 to around 215,000.

The provision dividing pensioners into two classes was eliminated on motion of Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene.

Backers of the provision admitted privately its purpose was to permit smaller pensions to negroes than to whites. Bradbury warned, however, that it probably would lead to a situation in which persons with the most political influence would be placed in class A.

Chief purposes of the bill were to enlarge pension grants and put local administration of pensions in the hands of the county commissioners courts instead of investigators for the state organization.

A state set-up would be retained for general supervision but investigations of applicants would be made by the county commissioners' courts.

Harrassing Investigators

"One of the main things I want to do," said Hardin, "is to dispose of these investigators that are harassing the old people all over the state."

Rep. Robert H. Wood of Marshall contended if pensions were liberalized to the extent proposed by Hardin the federal government would cease matching state grants.

"I favor eliminating consideration of the ability of children to support applicants but I believe that's as far as we should go," Wood said.

Hardin replied that the federal social security board approved Texas' original pension law and his bill was only slightly more liberal than that statute.

Rep. Lonnie Alsup of Carthage obtained printing in the house journal of communications intended to show the federal government would not approve the Hardin plan. Rep. Eugene Worley of Shamrock said, however, the federal government would not pass on any plan until it had been officially submitted.

The only development on the taxation front was a statement by members of a house sub-committee that they probably would be unable to complete work on the senate pension tax constitutional amendment until next week. They had been asked to report to the constitutional amendments committee by tonight if possible.

Inspection Service Proposed.

AUSTIN, April 12.—(AP)—Seed inspection service under the department of agriculture is provided under a bill passed yesterday by the senate.

The measure which would permit the department to inspect facilities of out-of-state growers offerings for sale in Texas registered cotton, sorghum and alfalfa seed, was branded by opponents as likely to jeopradize a movement to wipe out restrictions against free trade among states.

Proponents, however, contended the bill would protect Texas farmers against inferior seed.

The measure now goes to the house.

House and Senate Far Apart on Tax

AUSTIN, April 1.—(AP)—Issues of sales vs. gross receipts tax and constitutional amendment vs. bill were clearly drawn today as the legislature resumed its hunt for solution of the vexing old age pension financing problem.

The house yesterday passed a bill imposing a one per cent tax on gross cash receipts of retailers above $45,000 a year and a one-fourth of one per cent levy on those of wholesalers above $75,000 annually. One day earlier, the senate approved a constitutional amendment embodying a 2 per cent general sales tax.

The house constitutional amendments committee will meet tonight to give further consideration to the senate proposal but the house twice has rejected a somewhat similar resolution. Whether senate advocates of the house bill could push it through the upper chamber in the remaining weeks of the session was highly doubtful.

Pending for probable house floor consideration today was a senate bill liberalizing old age pensions but providing no additional revenue. The bill called for pensions to every aged person whose net income is less than $30 a month. Advocates estimated it would almost double the pension rolls.

Quick Passage Surprising.

House passage of the gross receipts tax bill only three hours after start of floor discussion surprised nearly everyone.

Members took the position that the important thing was to send something to the senate. They asserted the upper branch probably would alter whatever bill the house passed.

In addition to the gross receipts levies, the bill stipulated a tax of one-tenth of one per cent on gross income of money-lending agencies and boosts of 33 1-3 per cent in natural resources imposts.

The senate's proposed constitutional amendment also calls for higher natural resources taxes.

Rep. Ross Hardin of Prairie Hill, author of the house bill, estimated it would yield around $25,000,000, of which three-fourths would go to old age pensions and other social security programs. Opponents of the proposal said, however, it would produce only $15,000,000 to $18,000,000.

The house hurdled two obstacles when it approved a conference report on the soil conservation bill and passed finally a bill revising land vacancy laws in the interest of the occupant.

The senate previously having approved the report, the soil bill now goes to the governor. It appropriates $103,000 for the work and sets up machinery whereby Texas hopes to participate in allocation of federal funds in the nation wide program.

With the state divided into districts, a nine-tenths vote of property owners is necessary for authorization of the program. Last-minutes opposition came from Rep. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene, who contended safeguards for homesteads should have been retained, but were eliminated in conference.

The land vacancy bill was amended just before final passage to eliminate a provision that lands included within boundaries and surveys in any Mexican grant under the old treaty of Guadalupe and Hidalgo could not be classed as vacancies.

The bill provides trial of vacancy cases in counties where the land is located. In the past all have been tried in Travis county. Another provision would give landowners using or occupying the land in good faith preferential right to purchase from the state. An increase from $1 to $100 in filing fees on vacancy applications also is provided.

State's Royalty

The state would get 1-16th royalty on vacancies sold and 1-8th on vacancies leased. Land within five miles of an oil and gas well would be subject to lease but not to sale unless there was a good faith climant electing to purchase.

Alo adopted by the house was a conference report of a bill permitting barbers to fix minimum prices.

The measure permits barbers to fix minimums of not more than 40 cents for haircuts, but provides deviations of as much as 25 per cent in towns of 1,000 population or less. The senate has not acted on the conference report.

The senate, meanwhile, passed a bill consolidating all welfare and social security agencies. It was estimated this would save the state $750,000 annually.

Also winning senate approval was a bill providing election of a woman either as chairman or vice-chairman of the state democratic executive committee.

Barber Bill Passed Finally.

AUSTIN, April 12.—(AP)—Senate adoption today of a conference committee report sent to the governor a bill permitting barbers to establish minimum prices for haircuts by agreement.

The governor has 10 days in which to approve or veto the measure which permits barbers in cities of more than 1,000 population, by a vote of 85 per cent to set a minimum price which cannot exceed 40 cents. It could be any price below that level. Barbers in rural areas by the same method could establish a minimum price of not more than 30 cents.

To Tighten Check Laws.

AUSTIN, April 12.—(AP)—A senate committee last night unanimously voted out a bill to tighten "hot check" laws.

The action was taken on a bill already passed by the house which would make it a felony to give a hot check with criminal intent.

To Set West Hearing.

AUSTIN, April 12.(AP)—Senate committee on governor's nominations probably will meet tomorrow to set a hearing on Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's appointment of J. M. West, Sr., of Houston as chairman-member of the state highway commission.

Senator Allan Shivers of Port Arthur, chairman, said today West had communicated with him, informing him he could appear at the committee's convenience.

West is the governor's third selection for the post. The Chief Executive first chose Carr P. Collins of Dallas whom the senate rejected. His second choice, N. J. Hunter of Abilene, asked that his name be withdrawn because of opposition of East Texas senators who contended a man from their section should get the appointment.

Appropriations Cut.

AUSTIN, April 1.—(AP)—The senate finance committee's departmental appropriations bill, setting up funds for all state departments for the next two years, was introduced today at a figure $3,243,551 less than total appropriations for the current biennium.

Its appearance signaled beginning, possibly next week, of floor work on the major money bills.

Morris Roberts of Pettus, committee chairman, said the new appropriations totaled $20,981,169.

The reduction was effected mainly through elimination of duplicating services and jobs and stringent regulations on travel expense of employes, Roberts said.

Says Bill Unconstitutional.

AUSTIN, April 12.—(AP)—Requested by the house of representatives, an opinion from the attorney general's department yesterday ruled a senate bill to regulate travel bureaus unconstitutional.

Attorney General Gerald Mann's opinion pointed to two previous lawsuits in which courts held unconstitutional statutes whose terms and regulations were similar to those contained in the bill.

Compensation Insurance.

AUSTIN, April 12.—(AP)—By unanimous vote a house committee last night recommended passage of a bill to set up a state workmen's compensation insurance system.

The state treasurer would be custodian of a fund to be administered by the Industrial accident board.

Every Texas employer with two or more employees would be required to give the board information concerning the number of employees, kind of employment and the aggregate amount of wages to employees.

Employees injured while in performance of duties would receive 66 2-3 per cent of their average weekly wage, provided in no case the weekly payment would be less than $7 nor more than $20. Death benefits also are included in the act.

Sheriff Uses His Thumb Catch Ride Home In Airplane

HANTEO, N. C., April 12.—(AP)—Sheriff Victor Meekins was 40 miles out in the sand dunes when his car broke down.

Not another automobile was in sight.

The sheriff looked into the air. A red monoplane came zooming along. Up went the sheriff's hand, his thumb pointed in collegiate fashion. Down came the plane.

The pilot brought Meekins to Roanoke Island.

IRA G. YATES, OIL MILLIONAIRE, DIED AUSTIN WEDNESDAY

LIFE EMBRACED PERIODS FROM PEANUT DIGGER TO OIL CROESUS

AUSTIN, April 12.—(AP)—Ira G. Yates, 79-year-old oil millionaire whose full and picturesque life embraced periods as a peanut digger, mule trader, ranchman and butcher, died here today.

Yates, on whose land was discovered the state's most prolific oil pool, died in Seton Infirmary at 9:01 a. m. after battling pneumonia for days. His condition became hopeless last night when uremia developed.

A little over 12 years ago Yates' discovery well came in, smearing oil over several hundred yards of the rocky hillside of his Pecos county, West Texas, ranch. Yates became Texas' richest man.

Today the Yates field has more than 550 wells with a total daily potenial of 3,221,850 barrels, and has produced more than 240,000,000 barrels.

On the morning of Oct. 29, 1926—67th birthday of Yates—he and his son stood talking on the rugged land of his ranch, watching a drilling rig punch a wildcat well into the tough soil.

Suddenly the father exclaimed:

"John, we'd better get away from here, something is coming out of there pretty soon!"

Father and son moved away a half mile, then Yates' prediction was realized.

Discovery Well.

"There was an awful rumbling down the hole," Yates related. "Oil came with a rush mixed with rocks and gas, and the hillside for several hundred yards was smeared with black oil. We did not know very much about oil but we knew we had something."

Yates was born in Hopkins county, Oct. 29, 1859, the son of Ira G. Yates, who came to Texas from Missouri in 1842. His public school education was compressed into three weeks, but he said his schooling was obtained from the saddle of a cow pony.

At 11 he dug peanuts in Wilson county at 50 cents a day and at 12 became a cowboy, working with one outfit until he was 19. Then he went into business for himself, buying fat cattle in South Texas and driving them to market at San Antonio. Succeeding in this, he speculated in horses until 1883 when he married and moved to Tom Green county, then an area larger than any of several states.

Enters Ranching Business.

He established himself in the ranching business at Crow's Nest, 16 miles northeast of San Angelo, subsequently directing the John R. Nasworthy ranch on the Concho river five years and, as partner of Nasworthy, remained in the cattle business until 1889, the next year he was successively butcher, livery keeper and contractor, then returned to dealing in horses and mules, trading these animals with northern and eastern dealers for cattle which he bought into the San Angelo region.

In 1899, Yates bought a ranch three miles east of San Angelo, but in 1903 lost the property and went to work for the National Livestock Commission Company, but again lost his capital in the 1907 money panic.

Yates said when he traded a store he owned at Rankin for "the ranch across the Pecos," friends were certain "I was going broke." They said even "buffalo knew better than to cross the Pecos—that a crow would not fly over it and that it was not worth taxes."

Tough First Years

"It was tough over there in 1916, '17 and '18, but I fenced it, dug tanks and put up wells and thanked God the Pecos did not dry up through those long parched years."

After the Pecos oil strike was made in 1926, lease buyers came in and Yates began dealing with them. Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas Company drilled the discovery well in the Yates field on a block Charles A. Hitt, then in charge of the Transcontinental Oil Company, and O. H. Kilpatrick, his assistant, leased from Mr. and Mrs. Yates two days before Christmas, 1923.

The discovery well, was a rank wildcat. It showed oil at 975 feet and when drilled to 995 feet the hole filled with oil. Two feet more brought a flow, initial yield was 95 barrels an hour at 1,005 feet in sand and lime and later increased to 2,100 barrels hourly when deepened to 1,150 feet. The well has produced more than 2,000,000 barrels and still has a high daily potential.

Weds In 1883

Jan. 26, 1883, Yates married Mrs. Annie Shockley Brooks, native Texan and daughter of the Rev. Aquilla Shockley, Methodist minister and ranchman. The couple had eight children, A. F. Yates of Van Horn; Ira G. Yates, Jr., of Jacksboro; Louis and John Yates of San Antonio and Mack H. Yates of San Saba—all ranchmne; Mrs. Bessie Yates Hudson of San Antonio; Mrs. Tom Rhodes of San Saba and Mrs. Ann Yates Corzelius of El Paso. Mrs. Yates died May 15, 1936.

After the oil discovery, Mr. and Mrs. Yates went from the ranch to San Antonio, but after several years moved to suburban Wetmore.

In his latter years Yates added 23,000 acres in San Saba county to his 25,000-acre Pecos county ranch where he ran cattle, sheep horses and a few goats. He was president of the Wool Growers Central Storage Company of San Angelo since 1932, and served one term as city marshal of San Angelo in 1889.

FORMER GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL DOES NOT FEAR U. S. WAR

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS EXPRESS THEIR VIEWS ON NEUTRALITY LEGISLATION

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—William R. Castle, former undersecretary of state in the Hoover administration, told the house foreign affairs committee today Germany appeared most likely to attack Russia if there were any European war.

Testifying at hearings on proposed revisions of the neutrality law, Castle said it was unnecessary for the United States to be drawn into any conflict in Europe and contentions she would be were "merely war propaganda."

"That the question of democracy is not involved is shown by the fact Germany appears most likely to attack Russia in order to be able to draw on the natural resources of the Ukraine for food," Castle said, "and Russia is as much a dictatorship as Germany."

Castle criticized the present neutrality law by giving the president authority to make decisions "behind those normally provided by the constitution."

Six women's organizations also expressed their collective view on neutrality legislation. They appealed to congress today that the "almost terrifying power" of the United States be loosed from rigid neutrality restrictions.

Their spokesman, before the senate foreign affairs committee, was Mrs. Louise Leonard Wright of Chicago, chairman of the foreign policy department of the National League of Women's Voters.

Flexible Policy Needed

"Any neutrality policy that is adopted," she said, "should be sufficiently flexible to permit it to be adapted to conditions as they arise. We want measures which will implement the policy of the United States, not that of some other nation."

The present neutrality act, she complained, permits no discrimination in selling goods to an aggressor or its victim and, she added, has worked out unwisely in the Italo-Ethiopian war, the Sino-Japanese conflict and the Spanish civil war.

"Three times the principles of the neutrality act have been tried and found wanting. Three times the United States has unexpectedly found itself a silent partner of the aggressor."

Mrs. Wright spoke for her own organization, also the American Association of University Women, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the National Board of the Young Women's Christian and the National Council of Jewish Women and the National Women's Trade Union League.

Rivers-Harbors Projects.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—The house rivers and harbors committee recommended today authorization of 60 improvement projects estimated to cost $60,650,500.

An omnibus measure prepared fro introduction by the committee did not include a $207,257,000 waterway to connect Lake Erie and the Ohio river. The committee has deferred consideration of that project.

Largest project in the bill was improvement of the Illinois waterway at a cost of $25,900,000.

Other large improvement projects included:

Guadalupe River, Texas, $8,500,000; Louisiana and Texas Intracoastal waterway, New Orleans to Corpus Christi, Texas, $5,200,000.

The bill introduced today makes no appropriation. If the projects listed are authorized, the money necessary for carrying them out must be obtained by appropriation next year or thereafter.

Other projects in the bill included:

Houston ship channel, Brady Island, Tex., $21,300.

EMERGENCY RELIEF BILL PASSED LAST NIGHT BY SENATE

CARRIES ONE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS INSTEAD OF FULL SUM ASKED

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(AP)—A $100,000,000 emergency relief bill was on its way to the White House today assured of presidential approval, although it is $50,000,000 less than Mr. Roosevelt requested.

The senate passed the measure without dissent last night after rejecting an amendment by Senator Pepper (D-Fla) to increase the sum by $50,000,000.

The fight over Pepper's proposal brought a sharp split in administration ranks. Democratic Leader Barkley supported the $100,000,000 allocation, and told the senate he had agreed on that figure with a group of administration followers, economy-minded Democrats, and Republicans.

If he lacked courage to bear his share of responsibility for the understanding, Barkley said, senate Democrats should choose another leader.

"I think my record of the last six years shows that I'm not frightened at federal spending," the Kentuckian shouted. "If I had it in my power, I would order that $150,000,000 be appropriated."

But, Barkley continued, he had information the house, which already had approved the $100,000,000 fund, would not accept an increase.

President Will Sign.

Barkley told the chamber that although the amount was "unsatisfactory" to the president, he was authorized to announce Mr. Roosevelt would sign the $100,000,000 bill.

Mr. Roosevelt reaffirmed his desire for a $150,000,000 appropriation in a letter to Pepper shortly before the vote. The president said it was a matter of arithmetic that between 300,000 and 400,000 fewer WPA jobs would be provided if $100,000,000 was appropriated.

Barkley disclosed the president shortly would ask congress for a $1,500,000,000 WPA appropriation for the year beginning July 1.

Meanwhile, it was learned the house committee investigating the WPA would turn its spotlight first on the Workers' Alliance.

Informed legislators said the committee had subpoenaed David Lasser, head of the Relief Workers' Association, to testify next Monday on its operations and scope.

on which to base its decision and also that rate making is a legislative function and public utilities rates fixed by the commission have the same force as statutes.

"The commission was decided to be the agent of the state with regard to legislative and administrative powers," he said, "and that the courts have no authority to disturb any commission conclusion or finding without the delegated power of the commission when that conclusion or finding is based upon substantial evidence.'

He also commented the evidence showed the company was making an excess of 6 per cent return and the commission had found such return would be a fair and reasonable one.

"This great decision opens the door for 8 cent per thousand rate reduction to the gas users of Texas," he said.

The Polish foreign office was reported to have called home families of Polish embassy and consular officials in Germany.

Poland denied persistent reports Germany had made new demands for Polish territory. But the Nazi-dominated government of Danzig, formerly German and now a free state within the Polish customs administration, sent a note of protest against "Polish provocations." Full possession of Danzig is one German goal.

A government spokesman in Berlin said the fault would be with the democracies if war came and pointed to the United States as a nation fostering a "war psychosis."

The fascist grand council was summoned in Rome to approve "union" of Italy and Albania, which Italy took last week from King Zog, who fled to Greece.

Washington heard Joseph Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, might get a job of bartering American cotton and wheat for rubber, tin and other war materials for American defense.

Senator Would Appease All.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH) asked the senate today to express condemnation of "all inflammatory statement and press releases of the high officials of this government which have the effect of antagonizing the peoples of other nations against us."

The New Hampshire senator introduced a resolution saying that "it is the sense of the senate that his government must do all in its power to prevent American manhood from dying on the battlefields of Europe and to prevent American women and children from the hazards which modern war presents to non combatants at home."

The resolution further set out that "the senate urges upon the people of the United States cool and calm consideration of events transpiring in Europe to the end that they may not be lashed into war fever by militant utterances from whatever source."

In a statement, Bridges said he was asking "senate disapproval and condemnation of the public utterances of the President and other high governmental officials which are of an inflamatory nature and tend to create war hysteria in the United States."

"It can not be denied," Bridges said, "that the President, due to his high position as head of this government, should use great care and judgment in his public utterances."

U. S. Has Six Sets Of Quads! Canada Was Never Like This

(By The Ap Feature Service)

People have been going around saying that while Canada has its quints, the United States is doing pretty well too—with its five sets of quads.

Well, that isn't true. The United States has SIX sets of quads—one of them has missed most of the publicity, that's all. A little research after the recent birth of the Texas Badgetts unearthed the sixth set in South Dakota.

Usually Born Promaturely

The research also unearthed the fact that headquarters of the American Medical Association thinks all these quads are a testimonial to the growing efficiency of medical science.

"Most children of multiple birth are prematurely born," it says. "The premature child used to die because doctors didn't know how to care for him. There are more quadruplets living today because medicine knows better how to take care of premature babies."

Five states are blessed with quadruplets:. Texas (with two sets), Oklahoma, South Dakota, New Jersey and Michigan.

The Keys sisters of Oklahoma, now 23, are said to be the only quads ever to reach maturity. They're good-looking, but they don't expect marriage to break them up—just yet.

All of the quads come from modest homes; most of them have other brothers and sisters. Those whose education is in progress are getting musical training.

They Don't Come Often.

Yale's Dr. William Greulich gives an idea of the frequency of multiple births in his studies of 120,000,000 cases. He found twins occurred once in 85.2 cases; triplets once in 7,628; quadruplets once in 670,734; quintuplets once in 41,600,000. There are but four authentic births of sextuplets and 35 of quintupulets wherein all of the children lived.

But before you grab a pencil to figure up how many other babies were being born while the U. S. was getting its six sets of quads, look over these 24 folks that arrived in six storkloads—

Here's South Dakota's Schense quads that nearly everybody has been overlooking. Dad, F. A. Schense, has had a hard time financing. Mother died. He later married the quads' former nurse. Aberdeen folks recently gave them a piano. They're pictured sitting on a fence near their farm home at Hecla—Jay, Jean, James and Joan, born Jan. 31, 1931.

These pretty girls busy with homework are the Morlok quadruplets of Lansing, Mich., daughters of Constable and Mrs. C. A. Morlok. They're third-graders in the public school. Mamma wants them to lead normal lives; they sing and dance, but they're not allowed to perform much. Left to right, Edna A, Sarah C., Wilma B., and Helen D., the initials denoting the order of their births, May 19, 1930.

Felix, Frances, Ferdinand and Frank Kasper are New Jersey's prideful quartet from Passic. Their dad, Emil, has quite a problem of rearing them and two other children on his $17-a-week job with the WPA, but some business arrangements have helped. Parents are German-American, and the blond, blue-eyed quads prattle away in a mixture of English and German. The Kasper quartet was born May 9, 1936.

PLANS FOR SPRING RODEO ARE RAPIDLY BEING WORKED OUT

Plans are now rapidly reaching the final stage for the spring rodeo to be staged in the arena of the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show on June 2 and 3 according to W. E. McKinney chairman of the rodeo committee.

The chairman stated that a contract had been signed for some of the toughest of the prize on farm rodeo livestock and advance indication were that entries would be drawn from a wide territory.

Bronc and steer riding, bulldogging and calf roping will be the main events, and no attempt at special entertainment features is contemplated at this time according to Mr. McKinney.

Decision was made to hold the spring rodeo after numerous fans had suggested such a meeting, and the attendances at the Sunday amateur performances continued to grow from week to week.

LEGISLATURE

two classes and make equal payments to all members of a class, and to place initial investigations of applications in the county commissioners courts.

O'Daniel Figures in Debate.

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, whose chief platform plank was substantially larger pensions, once more figured in floor debate.

Opponents of the Alsup substitute said the governor last summer told campaign audiences all over Texas he intended to get rid of "gum-shoe investigators" for the state old age pension organization. Backers countered with a quotation from his initial message to the legislature in which he advocated leaving pension administration as at present.

While Rep. S. J. Osaacks of El Paso was making the final argument for the Alsup plan, a colleague asked him if he did not think the governor's positions now were considerably more sound than before he was elected.

"I hate to answer the question," Isaacks replied, "but I don't believe the governor has any conception of the state government even after he's been in office three months. However, I don't want to be put in the position of attacking the governor."

Rep. W. J. Galbreath of Wharton, who has repeatedly criticized O'Daniel's tax plans, asserted in support of the ill-fated county commissioners' court provision that he wanted to "go along with the governor in elimination of the pension snoopers that he talked about last summer."

Should Eliminate Investigators.

Rep. Arthur Holland of Belton argued that the existing method of administering pensions had caused more dissatisfaction than the shortage of funds.

"These investigators ought to be eliminated," he contended, "and local investigations be placed in the commissioners' courts or some local board."

A telegram from Jake Loy of Sherman, president of the County Judges and Commissioners Association, opposing transfer of the work to the commissioners courts, was read to the house. The reading prompted Rep. Ross Hardin of Prairie Hill, house sponsor of the original bill, to remark that the legislature should do what was best for the old people, not what pleased the county courts.

An effort to revise that portion of the bill which would have authorized division of pensioners into two classes, one for whites and another for negroes, failed after considerable debate.

The house did not reach a vote on engrossment of the Alsup substitute prior to adjournment, which meant it probably would be left pending until Wednesday. Meanwhile a proposal to give pension administration to the county judges was sent up as an amendment.

The senate state affairs committee set for hearing next Tuesday night a house bill levying a 1 per cent gross receipts tax to finance bigger pensions.

Legislature Wrangles Over Pension Plans

AUSTIN, April 13.—(AP)—Definitely crosswise on a method of paying old age puensions, the Texas legislature today resumed its wrangle over who shall be paid.

One day of argument over the pension liberalization gill sent over by the senate behind it, the house took up where it left off yesterday. Pending at adjournment was a motion to reconsider the vote whereby the house had eliminated a provision dividing pensioners into two classes. Some radical changes were made in the senate bill.

As approved by the upper branch, the measure would increase pension rolls substantially and place investigations in the hands of county commisisoners courts instead of the state board of control.

That was the first major hitch when the measure reached the house floor. Rep. Lonnie Alsup of Carthage offered a substitute to eliminate that provision. Opponents of his amendment argued there was great dissatisfaction with the present investigation system.

How close the fight was is attested by the fact Alsup's proposal was defeated by a one-vote margin.

Proposes Liberal Program

Alsup proposed a less liberal program. He would leave qualifications as at present, except ability of children to support an old person and the rental value of an old person's home would not be considered. Questioned as to how many people it would add to the rolls, he replied 35,000 to 40,000.

The senate bill would divide pensioners into two classes, with equal payments to all members of each class. By a five-vote margin, this provision was eliminted, but the house adjourned while a motion to reconsider was pending.

Aside from the wrangle over who would be paid, the stalemate over how to finance the program continued. Still in a house subcommittee, members of which said they didn't expect a report until next week, was the senate's sales-natural resource tax constitutional amendment.

On Senate Side.

On the other side of the capitol, members of the senate state affairs committee said that group would not hold a hearing on the house-approved gross receipts tax plan until next week. The house passed it stax bill yesterday.

Chief support for Alsup's proposal came from a 65-year-old minister, Rep. John E. Roach of Forney.

"It's time we returned to sanity on this old age pension problem," Roach said as he attacked "wildly extravagant schemes." He said he wanted to take care of the old people well, but cautioned lawmakers not to forget their platforms in the last campaign also included economy in government.

One amendment attached to the senate bill would bar from pension rolls persons with real property other than a homestead, personal property exceeding $1,000 if single and $1,500 if married. Posession of cash or marketable securities in excess of $360 also would be an ineligibility feature.

House:

Partly "deliberalizes" old age pension bill received from senate, strikes out provision for local pension investigations by county commissioners' court, then leaves amended bill pending until next week.

Sends to committee a resolution authorizing large private donations for research work to reduce stream pollution.

AUSTIN, April 13.—(AP)—The Texas senate today virtually killed a house approved resolution urging the state department insist upon "prompt and fair compensation for American properties seized by Mexico.

It postponed further consideration of the measure—which has lain idle on the calendar since March 27—until May 20 which is several days after the probable adjournment of the general legislative session.

A blistering attack was laid down by several members, including Senator Joe Hill of Henderson, in the rich East Texas oil district, who branded the resolution as "silly, an inference the state department was not doing its duty, and ill-conceived."

Hill said he held no brief for Mexican laws or its expropriation of foreign property and added properties expropriated by Mexico were those belonging to corporations chartered by that nation and doing business under its laws."

"You can't identify a corporation by its stockholders," Hill said.

Senator Allan Shivers of Port Arthur urged immediate consideration, asserting "this does nothing more than memoralize the state department. Dont hide behind a bush; Let's beat it out into the open."

Senator W. C. Graves of Dallas charged the resolution, offered in the house by Rep. Travis Dean of Hamlin was the most "vile" thing ever introduced in the senate.

"The Texas senate is too puny to dip its hand into international affairs," he said.

He asserted the United States of America was one of the first nations ever to start "grabbing," adding Theodore Roosevelt grabbeg the "Panama Canal" and then got ashamed and paid for it.

Hill argued along similar lines also, claiming a Texas law "in substance provides for expropriation of land without payment."

The successful motion for postponement was made by Farmer-Member George Moffett of Chillicothe who said any other action would be subject to "misinterpretation."

County Fire Department.

AUSTIN, April 13.—(AP)—The senate today completed legislative action on a house bill—which now goes to the governor— authorizing a fire department for portions of Lamar county outside the city of Paris.

Bus Terminal Bill Favored.

AUSTIN, April 13.—(AP)—A house committee last night gave a favorable report to a bill which would give the railroad commission authority to regulate operation of bus terminals. The measure, by Rep. W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi, was approved 15 to 0.

EDWARD R. MEEK RETIRED FEDERAL JUDGE PASSES AWAY

SERVED ON BENCH NORTH TEXAS DISTRICT COURT THIRTY-EIGHT YEARS

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 11—(AP)—Edward Roscoe Meek, 73, who served 38 years as federal judg as Dallas, Texas, died here yesterday.

He had been living in California since retirement in December, 1936, on account of ill health.

When President William McKinley appointed Meek a federal judge he was barely 32, the youngest man ever appointed to a federal bench. When he retired he was the oldest federal judge, from point of service, in the country.

One of the youngest men ever appointed to a federal judgeship, E. R. Feek lived to be among the oldest United States judges in service.

He was placed on the bench of the Northern District of Texas by President McKinley in 1898, when 32 years old, and was active in the office more than 32 years.

Born at Davenport, Iowa, Dec. 23, 1865, he was educated at the University of Iowa. Before graduation, Meek thought seriously of becoming a minister. On leaving the university, however, he went to California where he had been bequeathed an interest in a wheat farm. He supervised the production of one crop on shares and during that year read law, having taken the first-year course at Iowa, where a friend at the law school supplied him with the texts.

So well did he learn the texts that he was able to return to the university the next year and join the second year class.

A brother, who was vice president and general manager of the Fort Worth & Denver City Railway, suggested that Meek move to Texas and practice law. Later at Fort Worth he became general attorney for the railroad and, in that capacity, took promident part in law suits along the road in West Texas and the Panhandle. While a practicing attorney an Fort Worth he was named on the federal bench.

Judge Meek married Miss Elizabeth Markson at Des Moines, Iowa. Her father was owner of the Iowa State Register, a leading Republican newspaper at that time. Three sons were born to Judge and Mrs. Meek.

Many Reported Killed Mexican Train Wreck

MEXICO CITY, April 13.—(AP)—Mexican National Railways announced today at least 26 persons were killed and 42 injured in an early morning collision of two of its passenger trains 140 miles north of here on the Laredo-Guadalajara line.

Officials said all the dead were aboard a train which had left Guadalajara and which ploughed into the rear of a train from Laredo. No list of dead was immediately available but the injured list contained no United States citizens.

Twenty-two bodies had been taken from the wreckage seven hours after the crash, but railway men said it had not been possible to search all the ten telescoped passenger cars.

Train No. 2, which left Laredo yesterday, had stopped to repair a defective air-brake line near the station Ia Ilave, 140 miles north of Mexico City, when a train from Guadalajara ployed into the rear of it.

First reports said the deaths occurred in the Guadalajara train.

The collision took place at 4:10 a. m. CST.

It was the latest of a series of wrecks on the worker-operated National railways, the managemetnt of which recently charged there were efforts at sabotage to discredit the railway and the government.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—Consul General James B. Stewart at Mexico City reported to the state department today that about 40 persons on a train from the United States were believed killed in a collision near Queretaro, Mexico.

Stewart telephoned that early today a train from Guadalajara ran into the rear car of the train from Laredo, Tex., about 18 miles south of Queretaro, which is about 135 miles north of Mexico, D. F.

He was not informed whether there were any Americans killed. He told the department he was endeavoring to ascertain this information and said a relief train left the Mexican capital this morning.

Harlingen Selected Site Baptist Meet

WACO, April 13.—(AP)—Harlingeen was named the site of the 1940 convention of the Texas Baptist Sunday School association at the closing session of the three-day convention here today.

The 8,000 delegates attending approved "the recent action of the state legislature in its refusal to pass the race track gambling bill, presented at this session and promoted by powerful lobbyists."

The resolution commended "the courage of the legisiators on their stand" and expressed belief "they have expressed the will of the great majority of the people of Texas."

The closing session heard messages by Rev. Douglas Carver of Harlingen and Dr. R. C. Campbell of Dallas.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 13.—(AP)—Aerial gunnery training over the Gulf of Mexico, with new 300 miles per hour fighters will be inaugurated by the 20th pursuit group of Galveston, Texas, Saturday it was announced at Barksdale field today.

Early tomorrow a truck convoy carrying 37 troops and supplies will be sent to the gulf coast city to erect a gunnery camp.

The 55th pursuit squadron, commanded by Capt. Nelson, will move into the camp Saturday. Nineteen Curtiss P-36-A fighters, 2 Martin B-10 bombers used as towing targets, and a Douglas OA-4-A amphibian for patrol, with 22 officers and 85 enlisted men, will operate out of the camp for a two-week period, after which the 77th and 79th pursuit squadrons will conduct two-week training periods.

It was announced the gunnery training will include individual and mass firing on aerial targets at high altitudes, ranging upwards from 15,000 feet, with pilots using oxygen masks and heaters.
